

Democrats Expect To Defeat GOP on Spending Ceiling

Look for Support From Many Members of Southern Wing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are confident they can defeat a Republican effort to nail a government spending lid onto President Kennedy's $11-billion tax reduction measure when the bill comes up for a House vote today.

"We are optimistic," said Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic leader.

If both the House and Senate approve the measure, the proposed cuts would begin to be felt in paychecks next January. Ultimately the reduction would range between $100 and $200 a year for most taxpayers.

Two-thirds would go into effect next Jan. 1, the rest a year later.

No Early Senate Vote

But passage of the bill intact in the house would still leave a long, hard road ahead.

The Senate Finance Committee may not begin hearings on the tax legislation before mid-October and an expected protracted civil rights fight could delay the tax bill almost indefinitely.

Democratic leaders were heartened by the apparent willingness of many members of the party's Southern wing to go along in opposition to the spending limit. Even some Democrats who oppose the tax cut bill itself were reported ready to vote against the Republican motion.

GOP Strong for Curb

The administration can better afford to lose Democratic votes on passage of the bill. Many Republicans are expected to vote for it, whether or not the limitation is attached. But the GOP ranks are practically solid in support of the spending curb amendment.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which wrote the tax legislation, was reported to have advised Democratic House leaders to let him handle the job of persuading Southerners.

A highly influential Southern Democrat, Mills told associates

R. F. Kennedy Testifies at Crime Probe

Attorney General Tells of Activities By Syndicate in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe into the dark workings of a national crime syndicate opened today with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy telling of its secret meetings, assassinations and the chance of a major underworld power struggle in New York.

As the first witness, Kennedy set the stage for the Senate investigations subcommittee's hearings into organized crime which he called "one of the biggest businesses in America."

Afraid to Talk

Getting a look at its clandestine operations is difficult because of the curtain of fear, he explained. "This is one reason the disclosures made by Joseph Valachi are significant," he said. "For the first time an insider — a racketeer hierarchy — has broken the underworld's code of silence."

Russia Ratifies Nuclear Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The President of the Supreme Soviet today ratified the limited nuclear test ban treaty—24 hours almost to the minute after the U. S. Senate acted.

Tass reported the vote in the 33-member body was unanimous, which everyone had expected.

The President, under the Soviet constitution, has the power to act when the Supreme Soviet itself is not in session. Its decrees are rubber-stamped when the full body meets which is usually in December.

BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

ASHLAND (AP) — Northern Wisconsin was a presidential trip closer today to having a national park added to its bundle of tourist attractions.

A 72,000-acre complex encompassing the historic and scenic Apostle Islands off the south shore of Lake Superior was the proposed site and President John F. Kennedy made it known that he thought the territory deserved the distinction.

Survey By Helicopter

The President viewed the area Tuesday from an Army helicopter. He said he was impressed by the white sand beaches gracing the shoreline of the world's largest fresh water lake and commented that the Apostles reminded him of the sea-swept reaches of Cape Cod.

More than 5,000 persons were on hand to greet the President when he touched down at Ashland Airport following the aerial inspection. The helicopter swing from the Land and People Conference in Duluth, Minn., took about an hour, and half the time was devoted to examining the autumn-blazed terrain.

Praises Nelson

A thunderstorm threatened the President's course but it was skirted and added only to the distance of the trip around the islands, named by a French trader who mistakenly thought there were only 12 of them.

At Ashland, the heavy dark skies fell for the 25 minutes needed to introduce the President and hear him say, "If properly developed, recreational activities and new national parks, forests and recreational areas here can bolster your economy and provide enjoyment for many millions of people for many years to come."

Kennedy credited U. S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., for interesting him in the area and said Wisconsin was "fortunate" because its state government has already made a detailed study of the Lake Superior south shore.

Nelson is preparing legislation that would give the area national park status, and buoyed by the President's comments, the senator volunteered that the project could become reality in less than a year.

"Bargain Price"

Nelson said the President was astounded at the modest amount needed to purchase the islands—which the senator said was the "bargain price" of $500,000.

Kennedy was the second president to visit the area, and made reference to a 1922 fishing junket by Calvin Coolidge.

"Coolidge was here for some weeks and didn't say anything. I was here several times during the 1960 campaign and I talked all the time," Kennedy said.

Ashland Mayor Harry Simon saw both presidents and called Kennedy's stop a "working visit."

Seeks Parity of Opportunity For Farmers

President Wants Urban and Rural Areas Equalized

BY FRANK CORMIER

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — President Kennedy, stressing local pocketbook issues on his Western speaking tour, called today for a "new farm goal—parity of opportunity" with city folk.

Kennedy accepts an honorary degree today from the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks, and makes the fourth of 12 speeches on his 10,000-mile trip.

Prior to the President's departure from Duluth, Minn., the traveling White House made public the text of his Grand Forks speech, in which Kennedy said: "Parity of farm income is important—but beyond that, we are gradually achieving a parity between urban and rural peoples in other aspects of life."

Proposes "Parity"

Kennedy said his administration supports programs that "comprise the charter of the new farm goal—parity of opportunity—light and power at costs comparable to that in the city—economic and industrial opportunities without leaving the farms and towns—housing equal to that in metropolitan areas—and adequate facilities and opportunities for recreation."

At Duluth Tuesday night, Kennedy also bore down on a local problem—depressed conditions in the Minnesota iron mining coun-

Australia Ready To Aid Malaysia

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Already backed by Britain in its dispute with Indonesia, Malaysia today was promised military aid by Australia if it is invaded.

Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies made the pledge in laying before Parliament the text of a defense commitment with the new federation. He said Australian forces also are committed to help resist subversive activity in Malaysia.

Menzies made no reference to Indonesia. He said all nations concerned had been informed of Australia's decision.

New Bombing Hits Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Another bomb blast shook Birmingham today a few hours after a two-man presidential team arrived to help restore racial unity to the big steel city.

There were no reports of casualties and no disorder.

Two explosions were reported to police, but officers could find evidence of only one bomb.

The latest bombing — Birmingham has had more than 40 since World War II — was in a middle income Negro neighborhood on Birmingham's southside, across town from the 16th Street Baptist Church where four girls were killed in a blast Sept. 15.

The bombing was reported to police at 1:30 a.m. Police Lt. F. W. Lloyd said that Negroes in the neighborhood were "the most orderly group of colored people I have ever seen."

Rightist State Proclaimed, Communist Party Outlawed

West Seeks U.N. Funds to Keep Force in Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Racing against an Oct. 1 deadline, the United States and other Western nations today sought General Assembly action to raise $25 million to keep the U.N. peace force in the Congo until next June.

The move won support from the 32-nation African group. It is framing an appeal to Secretary-General U Thant to extend for six months the Dec. 31 target date for liquidating the U.N. force.

The problem of raising money to keep the force in the field was the prime concern as the assembly's 111-nation finance committee gathered for its first meeting of the 18th session.

Thant has warned that he will pull out the 7,000 troops in the Congo by year's end, unless the assembly approves maintenance costs within the next week.

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Republic armed forces and police deposed President Juan D. Bosch today, and proclaimed they were turning the country into a "rightist state."

The Communist party and any party backing Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro were outlawed.

Reliable sources said Bosch, 53, author-probator, was a prisoner in the presidential palace. Another report said he was flown out of the country.

The armed forces issued a communique saying they seized power because "there was a chaotic situation in the country."

All schools were closed.

Santo Domingo remained calm. People clustered around radios listening to the broadcasts of the communique.

The only sign of a military takeover was the posting of a machine gun in the square in front of the presidential palace.

Police guarded the headquarters of the leftist parties.

All stores and factories were closed.

Bosch became president in February, taking over from an interim regime that ran the country after the overthrow of dictator Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo.

U. S. Studies Tax Credits to Give Boost to Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax credits for greater exports were under study at the Treasury and Commerce departments today as a possible inducement to harder selling overseas of made-in-U.S.A. goods.

The plan is similar to the investment tax credit enacted last year, which officials say has helped to stimulate the outlays of industry for new plant machinery and equipment.

The export credit idea emerged from a committee of about 30 industrialists in closed meetings last week at the White House conference on export expansion, where President Kennedy called for a 10 per cent increase in export volume.

The committee's report, made public Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, along with other export-boosting proposals from the conference, said an export tax incentive "should be recognized as necessary to overcome our immediate balance of payments deficit."

The governor said he realized there was a need for corrective legislation on the point, but said "this bill is not the answer."

Reynolds signed into a law measures that exempt from personal property tax trimmings stored for aging and prohibit sale and retail liquor licenses.

While the administration officially has kept hands off the negotiations, the Tribune said it has learned that the White House, State, Commerce and Agriculture departments had been studying the legal, technical and policy problems.

In Duluth, Minn., where President Kennedy talked Tuesday night, a White House source said there would be no comment.

The report was bolstered by Dow-Jones, financial news service affiliated with the Wall Street Journal, which said Tuesday that cable advices from Holland told of the Russians about to seek U.S. export licenses for 4,750,000 tons of wheat, corn and oats.

Vetoes Bill on Non-Resident Exemptions

MADISON (AP) — Saying the proposal would have exempted most non-residents from Wisconsin income taxes, Gov. John W. Reynolds announced Tuesday the veto of a bill intended to remove inequities from the state's tax withholding system.

The Department of Taxation and the Legislature had attempted to correct a provision which required out of state employers to withhold Wisconsin taxes from their workers who earn part of their income in Wisconsin. The law applied to professional athletes and entertainers.

Flies Bill Too Broad

The bill would have exempted from state income taxes a non-resident who performs services in Wisconsin in the course of interstate commerce or on an irregular basis.

"The exemption is far too broad," said the governor in his veto message. "Wisconsin cannot afford to exempt from taxation the income of all non-residents who earn part or most of their wages while in Wisconsin."

The governor said he realized there was a need for corrective legislation on the point, but said "this bill is not the answer."

Reynolds signed into a law measures that exempt from personal property tax trimmings stored for aging and prohibit sale and retail liquor licenses.

Pigeon-Toe in Child Is No Cause for Alarm

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M. D. of mail received daily, Dr. Molner regrets he cannot answer letters individually.

Dear Dr. Molner: My five-year-old granddaughter is quite pigeon-toed. Her left foot is much worse than the right.

Will this condition correct itself, or should she have special shoes? Should a bone specialist be consulted? — C. A. K.

A child of this age quite normally can have some degree of toeing-in, or pigeon toes. If extreme, this may be due to flat feet or some other arch defect.

If she has serious trouble, she could be expected to complain of pains when walking, and tend to avoid being on her feet (sometimes such a child "seems to be lazy"), or have leg cramps at night.

Thus a mild pigeon-toe isn't cause for alarm; an extreme case needs attention. Since one foot is worse than the other, it seems reasonable (and simple enough) to have the child checked by an orthopedist. If she is all right, forget about it. If a defect exists, the doctor can advise you whether special shoes, or some other measure, ought to be used. But don't just go barging off for special shoes until you know whether they will help.

Hernia, Ulcer Differ
Dear Dr. Molner: Is hiatal hernia the same as an ulcer? I was told at first that I had an ulcer, but now it is diagnosed as a hernia. I enclose the required 20 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope for a copy of your booklet, "How to Heal Peptic Ulcers and Keep Them Healed."

—E. E. S.

No, they are not the same at all. A peptic ulcer is a raw, sore place in the stomach or the duodenum, which is directly below the stomach. A hiatal hernia (or hiatus hernia, or "upside-down stomach," the terms being interchangeable) means that the opening through which the gullet or esophagus passes through the diaphragm is somewhat enlarged. The stomach tends to slide up through it a bit. The pain is so similar that one is often mistaken for the other; the treatment is also similar. Either may, in stubborn cases, require surgery. The procedure is quite different, so precise diagnoses is important. But when or if you need surgery, you'll have had quite detailed study.

Skin Infection
Dear Dr. Molner: What is erysipelas? I'm just getting over it and am told nerves cause it. This is the second time I have had it. Can I get it again? It's so painful, but the pills I take sure stop it from spreading. My father had it. —L. E. W.

It is a streptococcus infection of the skin, and not related to the nerves. It is not nearly as common now as formerly, because the sulfa drugs, penicillin and other antibiotics control it. There is no insurance against its recurrence; however, if it does strike again, get treatment immediately and you will have much less misery.

Condition Annoys Him
Dear Dr. Molner: It seems that the last three or four years I cannot urinate as fast as I used to. It takes longer. This irritates my nerves. There is no pain. I am 50.—F. F. N.

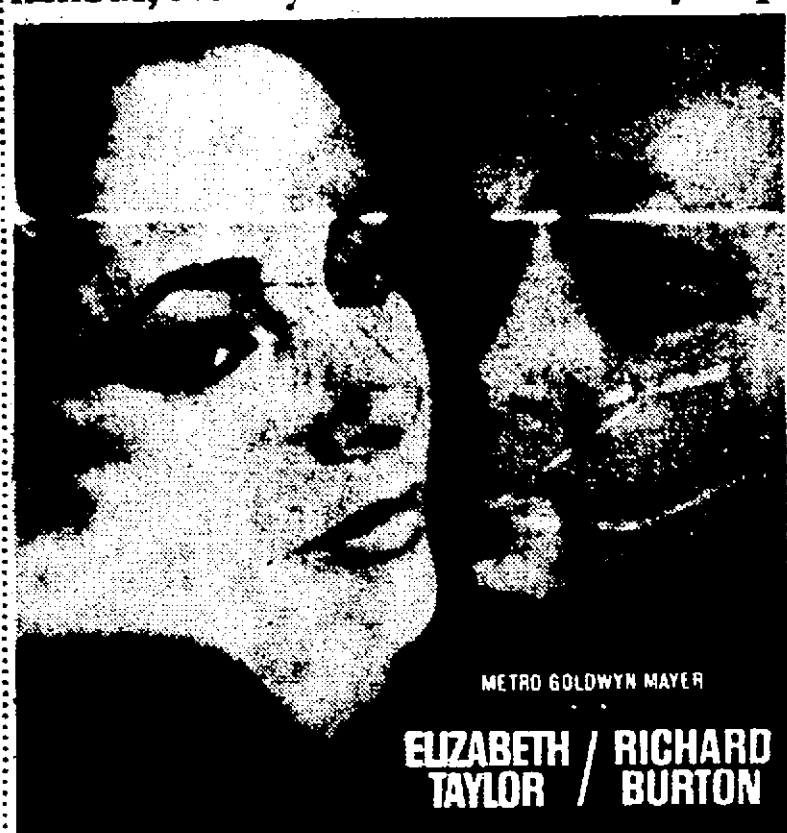

The probability is that you have some enlargement of the prostate gland, which is not unusual at your age. Consult a urologist. The sooner this sort of condition is corrected, the less trouble for you.

Dr. Molner is happy to receive readers' questions, and whenever possible uses them in his column. However, due to the great volume nedy," said, "I think it was a very, very beneficial trip and I think the President is going to come through for us on this national park program."

Kennedy Greets Many

Aware that those who had come to see him would have a wet ride home, the President went out of his way to greet personally as many as he could. As he walked from the speakers' stand, he turned away from his Secret Service body guard and strode into the crowd, extending his hand left and right. He was quickly surrounded by the spectators, dressed in working clothes and lumber jackets.

The President's visit generated a holiday mood in the area, decimated by the passing of the lumbering and iron mining heydays after World War I.

Louis Lake's Beauty

"In an age of congestion and pollution, man-made noise and dirt," the President said, "Lake Superior has a clear beauty that millions can enjoy."

"Certainly if we are to provide the kind of stewardship which future generations have a right to expect," he said, "we must set aside substantial areas for the day when our population is much larger and our people will travel with greater ease."

Kennedy said northern Wisconsin's special economic problems were due "to the decline in iron ore mining, the decline in railroads and shipping, the low prosperity of the timber industry, the destruction of lake trout and the low income level of so many farms."

First to Draft Plan

In listing ways in which the federal government could help, the President mentioned "area development programs, conservation programs, rural area development programs and increased fisheries research."

The President said Wisconsin was the first state to prepare a comprehensive plan for developing its resources. He mentioned specifically the long range $50 million dollar outdoor resources development project begun during the administration of former Gov. Nelson.

As he returned to his conservation theme, the President said that even in the beauty of northern Wisconsin troubles can develop constantly. He recalled that by accident millions of gallons of oil were dumped into the Minnesota River last winter. As the oil drained into the Mississippi River it took a heavy toll of ducks and other wildlife and caused hardships for riverbank residents.

Protection Needed

The President said he was calling for an investigation, to be held in St. Paul, Jan. 28. The investigation, in the form of a conference, will go into related problems.

"If, in cases such as these we fail to act," he said, "then the pressures of a growing population and expanding economy may destroy our nation's assets before our heirs can enjoy them."

Riding with the President on his helicopter tour were Nelson, Gov. John W. Reynolds and Martin Hanson of Mellen, chairman of the committee that prepared for Kennedy's visit.

Hanson, brother of J. Louis Hanson, the state Democratic chairman, has known the area since boyhood. He was placed next to the President to answer any questions.

In a front-row seat for the program, staged on a platform erected on one of the airport's taxiways, was Georgann Lowe, 9, of Washburn. She had written the President saying she "liked him" and wanted to see him in Ashland. The President sent two tickets to the affair to the girl, who brought her grandmother.

Indians Represented

Many in the crowd walked to see the President, many rode, and two farm boys made the trip on a borrowed mule. Jerry Zazawa and Mark Fletcher said it took them a couple of hours to make the five-mile ride from their rural Ashland homes.

Also officially represented were the 600 Indians living on the Red Cliff and Bad River reservations, which would be included in the proposed national park area. Alex Royce was the representative of the Red Cliff band of the Chippewas, and Fred Connors the delegate from the Bad River reservation.

Girl Wins Handshake

A persistent college girl provided the only major incident when she vaulted onto the speakers' platform and wrestled with state officers and Secret Service agents as she tried to shake the President's hand.

Christine Petersen, 20, broke away from the crowd, and after jumping onto the platform twice got away from a state policeman who tried to hold her by the ankle.

Two Secret Service agents finally blocked her route to Kennedy.

The President turned toward the commotion and asked the bodyguards to release the girl. Then he stepped forward to offer a smiling handshake.

Plans for a Green Bay presentation at the affair ran into the rules of the secret service.

The president was to receive a Packer team blanket and a copy of a book called "Run To Daylight," autographed with respect and admiration by a co-author, Vince Lombardi. The items were stowed aboard the president's craft, but the secret service said any public presentation was out because of the non-political nature of the trip and because it would be in conflict with the rule against accepting anything which implies a commercial endorsement by the president.

REA Job Not Finished

Emphasizing the work of the Rural Electrification Administration, Kennedy said that while REA's record is cause of satisfaction, "there is no reason to assume that the task of rural electrification has been completed."

He cited estimates that the rural populace will double its demand for power in the next seven years and that, by 1980, "the average farmer will use four times the amount he uses today."

The White House calls Kennedy a five-day swing a non-political conservation tour. All of his speeches have taken account of the conservation theme.

Tuesday night, however, Kennedy acknowledged that one segment of the audience seemed to represent "those who are interested in the Democratic party."

At another point he addressed a message to "those who may be members of one of the great political parties we still need your help."

Polish Bishops Cleared To Attend Council

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—State authorities have issued passports to 31 Polish bishops including Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński to attend the Vatican Council, a Roman Catholic Church official said Tuesday.

An official at the Warsaw Curia said it is hoped that more of the 48 bishops who applied for passports will receive them in time for the reconvening of the council next Sunday in Rome.

Thirty-one bishops would be the largest delegation from Poland or any other Iron Curtain country ever to travel abroad but the number is still less than half of Poland's total of 65 bishops.

try where, he said "The mines have run out, the owners have left and the people remain."

Retraining Program

Kennedy said his administration favors programs to retrain jobless workers, put new life into depressed areas and provide anti-recession insurance through an $11 billion tax cut.

In his Grand Forks text, Kennedy said "true parity of opportunity" will not come overnight to rural areas.

He said success "will require a new impetus in electrification development, new starts in our multipurpose dam programs and new and greater use of our land water, timber and wildlife resources."

REA Job Not Finished

Emphasizing the work of the Rural Electrification Administration, Kennedy said that while REA's record is cause of satisfaction, "there is no reason to assume that the task of rural electrification has been completed."

He cited estimates that the rural populace will double its demand for power in the next seven years and that, by 1980, "the average farmer will use four times the amount he uses today."

The White House calls Kennedy a five-day swing a non-political conservation tour. All of his speeches have taken account of the conservation theme.

Tuesday night, however, Kennedy acknowledged that one segment of the audience seemed to represent "those who are interested in the Democratic party."

At another point he addressed a message to "those who may be members of one of the great political parties we still need your help."

Polish Bishops Cleared To Attend Council

WARSAW, Poland (AP)—State authorities have issued passports to 31 Polish bishops including Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński to attend the Vatican Council, a Roman Catholic Church official said Tuesday.

An official at the Warsaw Curia said it is hoped that more of the 48 bishops who applied for passports will receive them in time for the reconvening of the council next Sunday in Rome.

Thirty-one bishops would be the largest delegation from Poland or any other Iron Curtain country ever to travel abroad but the number is still less than half of Poland's total of 65 bishops.

Age Limit for Kindergarten Termed Archaic by Mother

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS I've been trying to write this letter for several days but I become so furious every time I think about it I am unable to gather my thoughts.

Our son was not accepted into kindergarten this fall because he will not be five years old until Nov. 16th.

James is an unusually precocious child. He has been reading for almost a year. He began reciting poetry from memory when he was two and a half, and I don't mean a little nursery rhymes. James prefers the classics.

Three children in this block were accepted into kindergarten simply because they were born from seven to 12 weeks earlier than our James. None of these children are particularly bright. I refuse to believe that they are better prepared for school than our son. When are the schools going to remodel the archaic entrance requirements and take into consideration the total child instead of just his birthday? — In disgust

Dear Ann: It's awfully hard for a teacher or a superintendent to tell an adoring mother that her genius son (who may well be brilliant) is not emotionally ready for school. The child who is reciting Keats may not be ready for kindergarten, regardless of what his mother thinks. It is true that some older children are not ready either, but the most workable overall rule of thumb is to establish an age for entrance and stick to it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm sure you do some good, but I want you to know that you do me a little nursery rhyme. A cousin of mine is getting married to be his best man at his wedding and I said I would. He then asked me if I owned a tux and I said, "No." He told me I would have to rent one because the wedding is going to be a fancy affair. When I asked who was going to pay for the tux rental he said, "Ann Landers says you are."

I think this is all wrong and I don't care who says otherwise. I didn't ask my cousin if I could be his best man. HE asked me. Why should I have to pay money out of my own pocket to do him a favor? Please print this right away and tell me if you actually made up this crazy law. It doesn't sound like you. But then, you hear from so many nuts it's possible that you have turned a little nutty yourself. Thank you. — Broke Broke Broke: Yes, I do hear from some nuts, but then I get some lovely letters from charming people like you, so it even's out.

I did not make up the "law." It is a tradition that the members of the wedding party pay for their own outfits. It is considered an honor and a privilege to have been selected — and honors and privileges often entail responsibilities.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 35, married for the second time and have two teen-age children by my first marriage. These children live with my wife and me.

Three months ago I met a girl, 30, who came to work at the plant. She is married for the second time, also. This woman has three children by her first marriage.

We eat lunch together every day and she has told me that her second marriage is not working out. I'm in love for the first time in my life. Bells ring, I get a queasy feeling in my stomach. I get to work early, leave late, hate to see the weekend come, etc. I think of her constantly.

Should I tell her how I feel and see if a third marriage for both of us can be arranged? — The Virginian

Dear Virginian: Number three would be no better than (and no different from) Number One or Number Two after a few months. Stick with what you have and make it work.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry — Is It Love Or Pity?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, sign ideas, all sizes. Send 50 cents for self-addressed, stamped envelope for Catalog.

Water Main Approved; Cost $40,000

Plans for installing $40,000 worth of 12-inch water mains on Appleton's southwest side have been approved by the Wisconsin Board of Health.

Water Supt. William Gallauber sent the plans to the board in August and revised them in September.

The improvements were authorized for the following areas: On Fifth Street between Walnut Street and Pierce Avenue, about 1,900 feet.

Pierce Avenue between Fifth Street and Prospect Avenue, approximately 900 feet.

Through Pierce Park between the intersection of Pierce and Prospect Avenues and the intersection of Mason Street and Rogers Avenue, 1,900 feet.

On Rogers Avenue between Mason and Douglas Streets, about 1,400 feet.

The water main construction plans were approved by the state with some technical and engineering stipulations.

State Lawmaker Takes Verbal Poke at Reynolds

OSHKOSH—Robert Haase, Marinette, Republican speaker of the state assembly, verbally attacked Gov. John Reynolds Tuesday without mentioning the Democratic governor by name.

Haase spoke briefly before the general meeting of delegates at the annual Wisconsin County Boards Association convention here.

"Anyone who wishes to have investigations ought to get his own house in order first," Haase said, referring to Gov. Reynolds' proposal to have baseball investigated if the Milwaukee Braves move from the city.

The assembly speaker went on, "anyone who wants to increase state spending 42 per cent has no business telling you (counties) how to run your government." Here Haase referred to a Reynolds proposal to study local government to find means of greater economy and increased efficiency.

Alumni Ready Plans For Homecoming

KAUKAUNA — Mrs. John Mau Jr., was appointed to the Kaukauna High School Alumni Association board of directors to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Marcus Nigl, who resigned earlier this year, at a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Tentative plans for the Oct. 18 and 19 Homecoming weekend at Kaukauna High School were discussed. The group discussed a theme for the parade float and Norbert Noie, president, stated, "we will attempt to inform as many KHS alumni as possible about the dedication of the new athletic field and urge them to return to Kaukauna for Saturday's game."

Adopt Resolution
A resolution was adopted governing the newly organized Alumni News fund. Under the resolution, money donated to the perpetuation of the annual newspaper edited by the Alumni Association, is to be used solely for the purpose of assisting in publishing costs for future years.

Today's Etiquette

WIFE GETS SCOLDING

My husband and I and another couple had dinner together in a restaurant. From the menu we had a choice of either a salad or vegetable. Two of us ordered salad which the waitress brought almost immediately. We proceeded to eat it before the meat course was served. After we returned home my husband said it was ill-mannered for us to start eating the salad and that we should have waited. Which is correct?

Davis

It is correct to begin eating a salad as soon as it is brought to the table even if the others don't order it. Salad can be considered a first course and in many places throughout the country, such as in California, it is an established custom. However, I can understand your husband's thinking that it is rude to start eating until food is supplied to all. Such isn't the case in this instance. If anyone is apt to rationalize as your husband does, it would be a good idea for you to say, "I hope you don't mind if we start on our salads while they are still nice and crisp," or something to that effect. When four people are ordering a dinner, one or more might ask for soup, shrimp, fruit cup, tomato juice, etc. These obviously are brought in first and eaten before the main dishes are brought. It is the same idea because the salad would be in the same classification unless it happens to be brought to the table with the main course, depending on the restaurant's regulations.

State Lawmaker Takes Verbal Poke at Reynolds

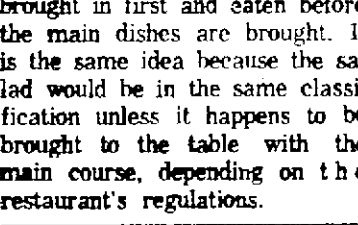

OSHKOSH—Robert Haase, Marinette, Republican speaker of the state assembly, verbally attacked Gov. John Reynolds Tuesday without mentioning the Democratic governor by name.

Haase spoke briefly before the general meeting of delegates at the annual Wisconsin County Boards Association convention here.

"Anyone who wishes to have investigations ought to get his own house in order first," Haase said, referring to Gov. Reynolds' proposal to have baseball investigated if the Milwaukee Braves move from the city.

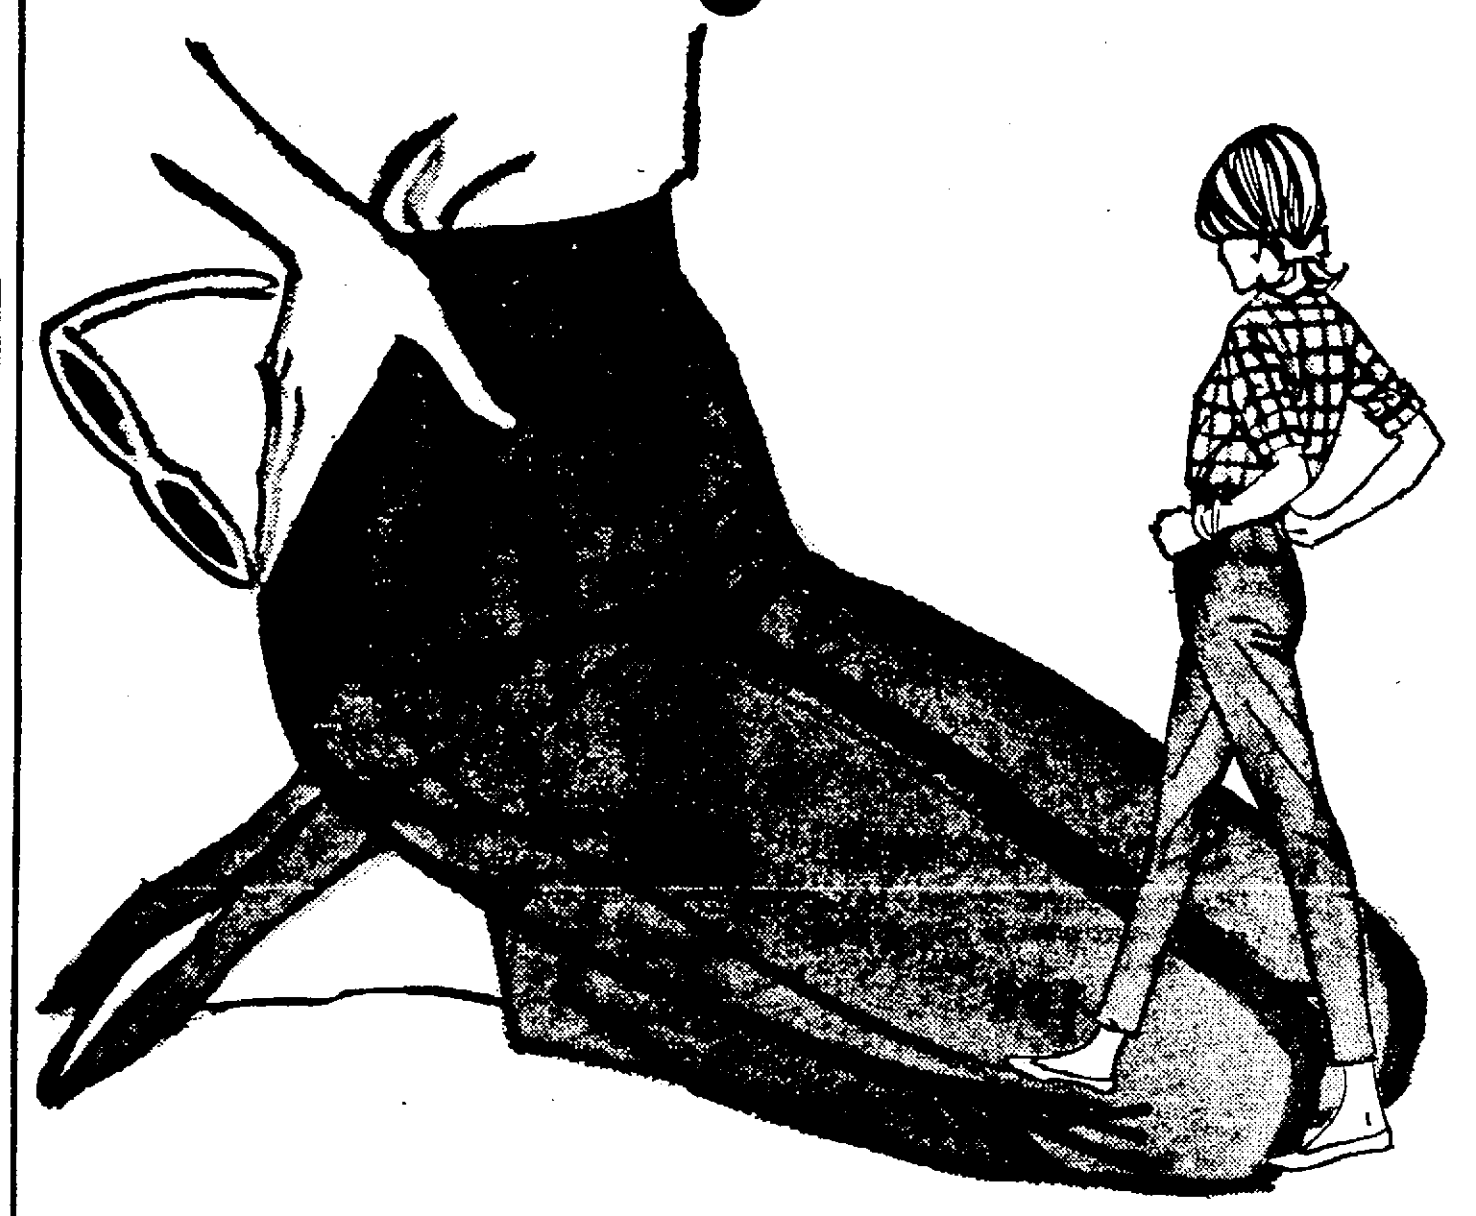

The assembly speaker went on, "anyone who wants to increase state spending 42 per cent has no business telling you (counties) how to run your government." Here Haase referred to a Reynolds proposal to study local government to find means of greater economy and increased efficiency.

Managing Apartment Can Prove Valuable Lesson

By MARY FEELEY
Contributor to Money Management
Dear Miss Feeley:

This fall three girls and myself are renting an apartment together. It is the last year in college for the four of us, so we hope to make the most of it.

To begin, the rent is $230 a month, but is a beautiful place. There will be a number of bills for staples, phone, towels etc., right at the start, and then bills for utilities, TV rental, and food. We hope to avoid some expense by contributing whatever we can, like pots, pans, silverware and other such articles.

None of us is really hating for money but we all want to spend sensibly and make sure that no one gets stuck with more than the group.

Buying groceries each week seems to be one of our outstanding problems. How do we go about buying for four girls, satisfying everyone's taste and still not spend a lot of money needlessly?

A lot of our problems would be solved if we could find a way to pool our money in advance. We would greatly appreciate any help.

Miss B., Pontiac, Mich.

Dear Miss B.:

Even before you pool your money, why don't you set up a "job sheet." Running your household involves buying food, paying rent, keeping check on household operating costs. So divide these jobs among you—with two if you on the meal planning and food shopping since these call for the maximum output of imagination, canny buying, and probably the actual labor of toting the

Worry of FALSE TEETH
False or Irritating?

Don't be embarrassed by loose false teeth slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, talk or laugh. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This pleasant powder gives a remarkable sense of added comfort and security by holding plates more firmly. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. It's alkaline (non-acid). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

groceries home. It's easily a two-woman job, especially when you are inexperienced.

The whole operation of keeping house and finding out where the money goes is too valuable an education for any one of you to miss out on. So by all means, alternate the jobs among you from time to time—maybe even once a month. This will keep life livelier for everybody, and no one will get stuck at the stove forever just because she happens to be the best cook. Remember that each of you will doubtless have the entire responsibility of running a household some day, so this is a grand time to make your mistakes and discover your talents.

Where meal planning is concerned, don't exhaust yourselves trying to please everybody's tastes at every meal. Each of you can list your chief likes and dislikes. Then let the kitchen team see how close they can come to pleasing most of the people most of the time. As for judging food quantities, the cookbooks can help there—note what quantities are involved in recipes for a stated number of people. You'll soon catch on.

Now for the money. Rent, $23.50 each month. Food, $36 each per month—which should allow handsomely for entertaining as well as just eating. Divide up the cost of utilities, and household operating costs. Under the latter heading include the following:

Cleaning supplies; maid service if any; replacements for such items as light bulbs, dishes, cooking equipment, household laundry, TV rental.

I assume you'll each have your own bank account, so draw out what you owe the pool on the first of the month, or whenever bill-paying time may be. Whoever is in charge of paying the rent could be in charge of the kitty.

Most important of all, have a good time. In any event, you'll gain some priceless experience.

U.S. Anxious About Next Step With Reds

Washington Believes Red China Will Prod Khrushchev Toward Closer Western Associations

WASHINGTON (AP)—With the test-ban treaty safely through the Senate, administration leaders were reported cautiously hopeful today that Soviet Premier Khrushchev will be ready soon to negotiate a "second step" to reduce dangers of nuclear war.

The same pressures believed to have influenced Khrushchev's decision of the Iron Curtain to guard against surprise attack.

An AP News Analysis

decision to sign the limited ban on nuclear weapons testing are still present. Thus U. S. experts think Khrushchev may see further need to improve his relations with the Western powers.

These pressures include the bitter and growing differences between the Soviet Union and Red China and the apparently severe crop failure in the Soviet Union this year which makes Khrushchev partially dependent on Western sources for wheat and other food grains.

Furthermore, U. S. officials believe that after the Cuban missile showdown last October Khrushchev decided the danger of nuclear war had been so great that steps toward minimizing future risks of worldwide destruction were necessary.

Next Steps
Possible next steps include proposals which Khrushchev himself has made for an East-West non-aggression pact and for the stationing of observers on both sides

Easing of East, West Tensions Troubles Africa

Believe Aid May Be Hurt by U. S., Russian Agreements

BY ANDREW BOROWICZ

concern because tensions between the West and the Soviet bloc appear to be easing.

Since the signing of the limited nuclear test ban, many African officials have expressed fear privately that the two power blocs may reach an agreement that would reduce East-West competition in Africa.

That struggle for influence is a main source of income for most new African nations. Much of Western and Communist aid for Africa stems from the fear that "if we don't do it, the other side will."

Most African nations get money from both East and West and don't hesitate to play one against the other.

Many Africans fear that reduction or elimination of the big power competition would throw them back on the mercy of their former colonial masters.

Tunisian Foreign Minister Mongi Slim, one of Africa's top spokesmen, warned in a talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in New York that there should be no easing of East-West tension "at Africa's expense."

Lack of Interest
Slim's statement was broadcast by the Tunisian radio which also quoted him as saying any international entente should be used to speed up decolonization in Africa.

A number of editorials and comments have accused representatives of the major powers at the U.N. General Assembly session of a lack of interest in Africa.

A Tunisian radio commentator stressed with bitterness that President Kennedy and Gromyko devoted only fractions of their U.N. addresses to African problems.

The African nations want to make the current assembly session an "African session." Officially the liberation of Portuguese territories and of South Africa from white rule are the aims. But many observers believe some nations are using the campaign to divert attention from overwhelming problems at home.

Byrnes Hits at JFK's Figures On Employment

Lawmaker Accuses Kennedy of Trying To 'Bamboozle' U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. John Byrnes, R-Wis., said Tuesday that President Kennedy's claim that federal employment increased by only 5,800 during the last year was "a deliberate attempt to bamboozle the American people on the eve of an important House vote on the tax cut."

Byrnes, chairman of the House Republican Policy Committee, said in a statement the 5,800 figure "may in itself be correct, but the President has conveniently omitted the really important statistics."

The President used the figure in a statement made public Monday, saying that had the federal payroll expanded in the same ratio as the national population, government civilian employment would have jumped by more than 40,000.

168,580 Federal Employees

Byrnes said Civil Service Commission figures through July show an increase of 168,580 federal employees during the 2½ years of the Kennedy administration. He said that during the comparable period of the Eisenhower administration the number of federal workers dropped 251,307.

The congressman said the President is "saying, in effect, that he is only taking a breather. For in his budget message in January, he called for hiring 36,492 more federal workers" in the current fiscal year.

Byrnes said the President "also failed to mention" that the reason only 5,800 new employees were added was because Congress has not voted the appropriations asked by the administration.

FCC Still Concerned About Over-Commercialization

NEW YORK (AP)—E. William Henry, Chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, says the FCC still is concerned about "over-commercialization" in radio and television.

Henry made the statement yesterday in addressing more than 1,000 members of the International Radio and Television Society. It was his first speech before the broadcasting industry group since he became FCC chairman June 1.

"For 36 years," he said, "the commission has relied upon vague policy pronouncements condemning 'over-commercialization.'"

"It is time, and past time, to get specific—to bring this policy down out of the clouds and into the homes of viewers and listeners. Whether by rule or policy statement, we need to establish criteria, which will tell the public and the industry what we mean by 'over-commercialization.'"

Last March 28, the FCC proposed the possibility of a rule limiting time devoted to commercials and asked broadcasters to comment.

Henry said the gist of comments so far has been that "the task is impossible." He added that the broadcasters have not said why it is impossible.

He appealed for "hard, concrete information which will allow the commission to reach a fair judgment."

Speaking of interruptions in programs, Henry gave this hypothetical example: "The teaser, opening such as: 'Good evening, ladies and gentlemen, the President has just asked the Congress to declare war. We'll be back with that story after a word from our sponsor.'"

Henry said public complaints about commercials—their number, length, frequency, loudness and timing—have been "high on our complaint list" for several years. He said the FCC received about 2,500 complaints about advertising last year.

Grace Kelly's Missing Niece Found in Iowa

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP)—Mary Lee Davis, 15-year-old niece of Princess Grace of Monaco, and a youth with whom she had eloped from Philadelphia four weeks ago, were found here Tuesday night.

Miss Davis, daughter of wealthy parents, had been working as a waitress in a hotel coffee shop and the youth she intended to marry, John Paul Jones Jr., 20, had been selling encyclopedias.

Police said they had been in Des Moines about three weeks, staying in an apartment which a detective described as small but tastefully furnished and well decorated.

Mary Lee said they were not yet married but were in love. Acting on a tip from the boy's employer, who had seen Mary Lee's picture in the Des Moines Tribune, officers took the young couple to the police station for questioning. They were not held.

Sen. Smith Mentioned As Possible Running Mate for Goldwater

Associates Say Woman's Mail Suggests Her for No. 2 GOP Spot

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Margaret Chase Smith is once again being talked about as a possible Republican vice presidential candidate, as she has been at intervals ever since she first was elected to the Senate in 1948.

Maine's champion vote getter, Mrs. Smith says she is startled by the mail she has received urging her to run on the GOP ticket next year. But she also says she is realistic enough to know she doesn't have a chance.

Regardless of how much she may discount her chances, associates said today a fairly steady stream of mail flows in suggesting her for the No. 2 spot—particularly as a running mate for Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona if he becomes the Republican nominee.

Voted No on Pact

When Mrs. Smith joined Goldwater Tuesday in voting against ratification of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty, some political observers saw this as a sign she might be moving in that direction.

When newsmen asked her about it, she pointed out that the day before she had voted against Goldwater's reservation to delay the effectiveness of U.S. ratification until the removal of Soviet nuclear weapons and military personnel from Cuba had been verified by the United Nations.

Aides of Goldwater said he has not made overtures to Mrs. Smith or anyone else about the vice presidential nomination. They emphasized he hasn't even announced whether he would be a candidate for the presidential nomination.

New Hampshire Support

Despite the absence of any declaration from Goldwater, he got a boost Tuesday from Sen. Norris Cotton, R.N.H., who called a news conference to announce his support of the Arizona senator for president.

As New Hampshire's senior Republican, Cotton said he expects to be a candidate for delegate to the GOP national convention in the state's first-in-the-nation presidential primary next year and will fight for Goldwater's nomination.

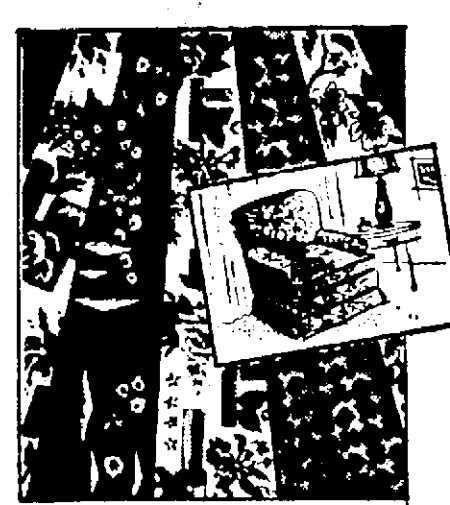

Aides of Mrs. Smith said she has received some letters urging some enter the New Hampshire primary to give voters a choice other than Goldwater or Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York.

She has replied that while she appreciates the suggestion, she doesn't have the time, the money, or the organization to go after the presidential nomination.

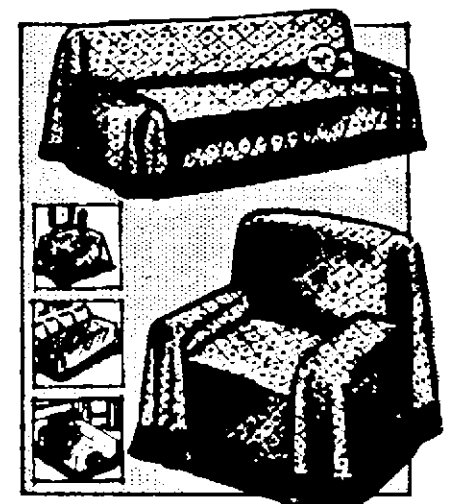

No woman ever has been nominated for president or vice president, but letters she has received urging her as Goldwater's running mate suggest she not only would draw the women's vote but also would provide geographical balance for the ticket.

Mrs. Rex Harrison on First Visit to U. S.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—American audiences know Rachel Roberts first as Mrs. Rex Harrison and second as an excellent Welsh actress who is usually romancing Albert Finney or Richard Harris in an English slum.

That's because American audiences have seen her mostly as a slum housewife in "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning" and "The Sporting Life."

But in person Rachel is quite the opposite. She is making her first visit to the United States while Harrison is doing the movie version of "My Fair Lady."

Rachel has no American movies in the offing, but she's willing if the right one comes along. She'll be here until the first of the year, or longer.

'Mr. Novak' Gives Glamor To Teachers

'Richard Boone Show'
No Paladin Story,
Star Great Actor

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—There's a good chance that NBC, the television network, and MGM, the film studio, may glamorize the school teacher the way, two seasons back, they brightened up the doctor's image with "Dr. Kildare."

The vehicle which had its premiere show Tuesday night is "Mr. Novak." The hero is James Franciscus, a handsome, blond young man not unlike Richard Chamberlain. He plays an idealistic teacher in a large urban high school. Where Kildare has his Gillespie, Novak has his Mr. Vane, the mature wise school principal, played by Dean Jagger with understanding and wit.

The production was glossy and the sentiments expressed about education were valid, if sometimes a bit high flown. The high school pupils shown seemed like fine, high-spirited kids. There was not one juvenile delinquent visible.

Richard Boone Show
"The Richard Boone show" the anthology series for which NBC has such high hopes, roared into its Tuesday night niche also. It started with an off beat story more like the sort of thing usually tackled on Alfred Hitchcock's hour.

Boone, in a role light years away from his Paladin character played a harsh, nasty and unscrupulous prosecutor determined to wrest a confession from a woman suspected of slaying her husband with a hatchet.

It was a fascinating exercise in acting—and Boone is a great strong performer. Bethel Leslie played the hatchet lady and very competently too.

Star Believes In Cheesecake, In Good Taste

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Most stars don't go much these days for cheesecake style exposure. But Angie Dickinson's all for it.

Endowed with one of the better pairs of legs since Betty Grable, Angie admits prejudice.

"Men don't want to see a shapely woman in a baggy sweater or a tattered housecoat on the street, at home and, least of all, in the movies or television."

"They want to see more women and less clothes—in good taste, of course."

2 Best Roles
Angie, a better-than-average actress, claims the two roles that did the most for her career were basically cheesecakey.

In "Rio Bravo" opposite John Wayne, she played the part of Feather, a sultry, provocative siren of the Old West in dance-hall costume, long silk stockings, et al.

Then in "Jessica" she played a sexy village nurse who rode around the Sicilian countryside in shorts astride a motor scooter.

She also plays a nurse in "Captain Newman, M.D." and does another sexy role in an upcoming Bob Hope anthology show now being filmed.

Angie, believe it or not, was once a secretary on the Warner lot where "Rio Bravo" made her a star.

Musical Theatre to Give 'Music Man' as Benefit

Fond du Lac Production This Week To Aid Marquis Drum and Bugle Corps

Fond du Lac's home-grown and non-profit producer of Broadway hits — Musical Theatre, Inc. — hopes to provide a big financial boost this week to a young musical organization.

Musical Theatre, with a remarkable background of smash hits to its credit, "Pajama Game," "Damn Yankees," "Bye Bye Birdie" wanted a natural stage for the benefit to match the ages of members of the drum and bugle corps. Wilson's musical story about the brass instrument salesman-band director extraordinary, Prof. Harold Hill, was picked as perfect for the occasion.

It turns out that the Fond du Lac production also is largely a family affair, in make the show unusual in still another direction. Ian Paroo, the librarian, will be Director of the show is Loula played by Barbara Shamrock.

Dance band leader Ron Harvey is working on the show as musical director and his wife, Linda, is wardrobe mistress and costume designer. Their son, Billy, 4, will appear on stage as the youngest member of the cast.

City Atty. Henry R. Baake will portray the scheming professor in the lead role. His wife, Ruth, and their teen-age daughter, Ian, also are among the actors.

The lead feminine role of Marianne, the librarian's wife, will be played by Barbara Shamrock.

Maloney Parts Reds Post Milwaukee, 4-2

Braves Fall 2 Games Behind Cincinnati
With Just 4 to Play

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Time is running out on the Milwaukee Braves' bid for a share of World Series money which should amount to about $800 per player for a fourth place finish this year.

The Braves fell two games behind fourth place Cincinnati with just four to play by bowing to the Reds 4-2 Tuesday night before a crowd of 4,744 at County Stadium.

Appearing at home for the first time since the announcement the club would remain in Milwaukee, the Braves were the victims of a few old timers.

Jim Maloney struck out 14 and allowed only three hits in seven innings. When his arm tightened, the big right-hander gave way to southpaw Bill Henry, who allowed only one hit and struck out two in the last two innings.

Four Straight
Maloney, whose 23-7 record includes four straight triumphs over Milwaukee, was aided by Vada Pinson's 22nd homer and Frank Robinson's 25th on successive pitches by starter Denney Lemaster in the fourth inning.

Lemaster, who has failed to win a game this month, gave up two more runs in the sixth before giving way to a pinchhitter. Dan Schneider and Bob Shaw held the Reds scoreless the rest of the way.

Maloney set a record of eight straight strikeouts while fanning 16 Braves in Milwaukee last May 21. In that outing, he needed help from Henry, who retired the last

Colts Release Lamar McHan

Club Forced to Put Injured Berry
On Active List

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lamar McHan, a quarterback in the National Football League for nine seasons, was released Tuesday by the Baltimore Colts who make their next start against the Packers in Green Bay Sunday.

The 30-year-old McHan, who needs to appear in only three games this season to become eligible for the enriched NFL pension plan, played with the St. Louis Cardinals and the Packers before going to Baltimore.

The release of McHan means that Gary Cuozzo, a rookie from Virginia who was signed as a free agent, takes over as understudy to quarterback Johnny Unitas.

The Colts had asked waivers on offensive end Raymond Berry, who will be sidelined up to eight weeks with a dislocated shoulder.

When another club put in a claim for him, it was necessary to restore him to the active roster, dictating the release of McHan.

The Colts, for a similar reason, are carrying halfback Lenny Moore on the roster, although he has not been able to play since his appendix was removed Sept. 13.

Another injured Colt, defensive back Bobby Boyd, is expected to be reactivated for the Green Bay game. He's been out with a shoulder injury.

Predicts 'Spirited, Hard-Nosed Game'

Bruhn Rates Irish '11'

Even With Big 10 Clubs

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's sixth ranked Badgers get a preview of what the Big Ten conference football wars will be like this fall when they meet Notre Dame Saturday at South Bend, Ind.

"The only difference between this game and our conference schedule is that this one won't count in the standings," declared Milt Bruhn, coach of the defending conference champions.

"But that'll be the only difference," said Bruhn who places the Fighting Irish on a par with conference teams.

Wisconsin, rated sixth in the Associated Press national football poll this week, is grimly preparing for what Bruhn predicts will be "a spirited, hard-nosed game with a lot of contact."

New Coach
It will be the season's opener for the Irish who hope to jump squarely into the national rankings this year under new coach Hugh Devore.

Wisconsin already has played one game, blasting Western Michigan 41-0 last Saturday.

Bruhn figures the added experience will help his Badgers, but points out that Notre Dame will hold the home field advantage.

"Besides they know more about us," said Bruhn, "they had quite a delegation watching us in our opener."

But the Badger boss has picked right places and the halfbacks had the receivers. It's hard to single out any one player but I thought Willie Wood's interception was the key play of the game."

This steal set up a 15-yard touchdown run by Tom Moore and put the Pack in front, 17-3. The interception and TD run were back to back.

The scoring play looked like a real perfecto and Lombardi agreed that "everybody went down."

Early in the fourth quarter Moore scooted 77 yards off his own left end for a touchdown and a 24-10 Packers edge. Vince said he received some excellent blocking as he got through the line but then "he got away from three people including Schmidt (Joe) who had an arm on him." Bob Skoronski and Ron and Jerry Kramer got the big blocks to start Moore off.

Impromptu Run
Jerry Norton's impromptu run off of a fourth down and six punt situation came under close scrutiny in the movies and Lombardi said that "Norton actually held the ball too long, waiting for us to get down, and then almost bobbled it. Then it was too late to punt and he had to run."

Jerry was nailed on the 10-yard line. This could have been a sort of "unfair" situation for the defense, which had been allowing a touchdown a game, but Dan Currie promptly intercepted.

The Packers came out of the game with plenty of bumps and bruises but nothing serious. "It was a tough game," Vince reminded.

It was back to work Tuesday—a light drill, a look at the Lion game films and a report from scout Wally Cruise on Sunday's opponent in City Stadium, the Colts.

While the Packers were at work, they had their emissary in Ashland to meet President Kennedy. That would be Tom Miller, the Packers' publicity chief, who was to present JFK with greetings from the team, a Packers blanket and an autographed ball.

John Mellekas
Signed by Eagles
As Free Agent

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Eagles of the National Football League have signed John Mellekas, 6-foot-3, 255-pound veteran lineman.

Mellekas, who formerly played with San Francisco and Chicago in his seven-year NFL career, was signed as a free agent Tuesday.

"We think Mellekas still has some good football in him," said Coach Nick Skorich, "and we think we can get some of it out of him. He has the experience to help us."

Regular guards Jim Skaggs and Howard Keys are out with injuries.

Rasmussen Leads Aerial Offensive

By Ralph Mueller
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Fox Valley Lutheran's defensive stalwarts will get perhaps their biggest test of the season Thursday night when the Foxes tangle with Denmark. The contest with the unbeaten Little Nine Conference team (3-0), is slated to begin at 7:45 p.m. on the Denmark High School field.

Coach Dave Umnus has been drilling the Foxes' 5-4 defensive alignment on pass defense for the most part this week as Denmark features Leon Rasmussen and his corps of many receivers.

The 6-1, 185-pound, Rasmussen has thrown something like 54 aeriels thus far this season as Denmark has marched past Reedsville, 19-6; Freedom, 27-19; and Shiocton, 31-12.

Halfbacks in Slots
Denmark coach Jerry Leitman describes his offense as a split-T with flankers. It is much like a pro offense but it hasn't got a tight end. Rasmussen throws to both ends and the halfbacks, who are placed in the slots.

If he has a favorite receiver, it would be Allan Valentine. Valentine is a 6-2, 195-pounder, who operates at right end.

Rasmussen is following up successful sophomore and junior seasons with another outstanding year. Recent statistics show him having a 59 per cent completion mark in the first three games.

FVL will not exactly be at a loss when it comes to throwing passes either Thursday. Bob Krueger displayed an accurate arm as the Foxes upset their favorite rival, Northwestern of Watertown.

AHS Harriers Win Pair of Dual Meets

Appleton High School's cross country team won a double dual meet from Menasha and Oshkosh Tuesday afternoon.

The Terrers beat Menasha, 19-42, as Dennis Brinkman, of AHS, placed first in 12.34. Menasha's Bob Smarzinski was second. Appleton took the next four places, with Tom Maves, Jeff Garrett, Dick Popp and Paul Schumaker, respectively. Steve Kasten took eighth for AHS and Les Bowers was ninth.

AHS downed Oshkosh, 23-36, with Maves' time of 12:34 being good enough to edge Oshkosh's Sam Muirde for first. Muirde, an African exchange student, ran it in 12:44. Maves and Garrett took third and fourth, respectively.

Menasha edged Oshkosh, 28-29. Muirde was first, with Bob Retz and Gary Wood the next OHS scorers. Smarzinski led Menasha, with Jim Walter, Tom Vanderheyden, Wayne Joas and Mike LeRoy rounding out the scoring.

In the B team event, AHS beat Menasha, 15-62. Appleton took the first six places, with Dennis Scubring (13:28), Terry Krueger, Jim Bauman, Don Whitnev, Tom Schockley and Mike Scheid. Warren Page headed Menasha's runners.

The four unbeaten teams in the Mid-Eastern Conference square off in an important set of games this weekend.

In Friday night encounters, Neenah invades New London, and Kimberly travels to Clintonville. The league schedule will be rounded out for the week on Saturday when Kaukauna is at Menasha and Shawano will be at Two Rivers.

Neenah will go into the game against the Bulldogs a solid favorite, but New London, which pulled a 12-6 surprise over Kaukauna last week, could prove troublesome.

Strong Running Game
While the Bulldogs were using a strong running game against the usually rock-type Kaukauna defense, Neenah was rolling up a 30-7 win over Two Rivers. Jim Langner and Dave Dernbach did the brunt of the ball carrying for New London. Langner ran 21 times and picked up 75 yards. Neenah got off to a fast start against the Purple Raiders. Mike O'Brien scored three touchdowns to lead the attack two coming on aeriels from quarterback Tom Diederich.

Kimberly, fresh from a 23-12 conquest over Shawano, is expected to hook up in an aerial duel with the Trukers at Clintonville. Dennis Kroger leads the Papermaker attack from the quarterback spot and has a pair of big ends, in Lee Levknecht and Jerry Wyngaard, for targets.

Bill Melzer and Steve Hedtke were standouts for the Trukers against Menasha last week. Melzer passed for one touchdown and ran for another. Hedtke did a major share of the ball carrying and

Cubs Kill Final Card Chance, 6-3

BY MIKE RATHET

Walt Alston was feeling no pain today.

It happened this way: Walt's dentist took care of his teeth, the Chicago Cubs took care of the St. Louis Cardinals and the champagne took care of everything else.

The champagne put the finishing touches on the 1963 National League pennant chase—some nine hours after Alston's Los Angeles Dodgers had clinched their first flag since 1959 without even so much as lifting a bat or throwing a pitch.

Alston had just left his dentist's chair Tuesday when the news was broadcast in Los Angeles that the Chicago Cubs had defeated second-place St. Louis 6-3 in a day game, eliminating the Cardinals and wrapping up the race for the Dodgers.

Posts 19th Win
"Anybody who says we backed into the pennant missed our five games last week," said Dodger pitcher Don Drysdale before taking the mound in a night game and holding his own pennant celebration by posting his 19th victory in a 4-1 victory over the New York Mets.

As for Alston, he said he thought the pennant-clinching was "wonderful." But he didn't figure it would end the way it did. "I thought the Cardinals would win today and we'd win tonight."

Notified before they even reported to the ballpark that they were the National League champions, the Dodger players reacted as expected — except for catcher John Roseboro.

Veteran Wally Moon said, "I'm happy." Tommy Davis said, "It's a great feeling." Moose Skowron called it "real wonderful."

Roseboro's wife told him she had heard of the Cardinals' loss on the radio. She said Roseboro yawned, and went to take a nap. The Dodgers had little opportunity to nap during the season until they moved into St. Louis last week with a one-game lead.

He swept a three-game series from the Cardinals and returned to Los Angeles with the pennant all but officially clinched.

Meanwhile, the American League champion New York Yankees began final preparations for the opening game of the World Series, Wednesday, Oct. 2 by trotting out the entire first-string for the first time since June 2.

two batters in the ninth of a 2-0 victory.

He appeared on the way to bettering his effort as he struck out 11 in the first six innings. The only Milwaukee hit during that period was Hank Aaron's wasted double in the fourth.

Walk to Aaron, a line double off the left field wall by Ode Torre and Len Gabrielson's ground rule double on a hit which bounded into the bleachers were good for two runs in the seventh. However, Maloney worked his way out of the inning and retired.

The defeat was Lemaster's 13th, compared with 11 victories. The gopher pitcher has been largely responsible for his undoing as he has surrendered a total of 29, tops among Milwaukee pitchers.

The Braves meet the Reds again tonight with Warren Spahn shooting for his 22nd victory. Spahn, who has lost seven, is due to be opposed by southpaw Jim O'Toole, who has slumped to a 17-13 record after a fine start.

last week with five completions in eight attempts.

Krueger picked up 43 yards on five completed passes with end Barry Wierschke snatching off four of them.

Coach Umnus was pleased at the performance of his defense in the Northwestern game, especially the middle of the line. The Foxes held Northwestern scoreless and generated a lone drive after taking the opening kickoff.

Doubtful Starter
Wayne Koenig, who scored the only FVL touchdown last week, is listed as a doubtful starter for Thursday's clash. Koenig suffered a leg injury late in the game and still is not performing up to par.

Bill Greens and Lee Kiepke have both been drilling at Koenig's left halfback position this week. Umnus may have the two share the job should Koenig not be ready.

Terror JVs Bid for First Win Saturday

The Appleton High School Junior varsity football team bids for its first victory Saturday morning (9:30) against Fond du Lac at Madison Junior High.

Last Saturday, the Junior Terrers lost, 20-6, to Shaboygan South. AHS scored first, as halfback Mike Holstrom went over from the South 9-yard line.

The South jayvees scored a minute before the half on an interception of a deflected pass and converted the point for a 7-6 lead. Appleton fumbled four times in the second half, and the visitors capitalized to score twice.

Pete Stark turned in a strong defensive game for AHS, while Ron Brinkman stood out on both offense and defense before suffering a shoulder injury. His availability for Saturday is not known.

Fond du Lac lost a 33-0 junior varsity decision to Oshkosh.

Little Chute's Kons Named Knights' Player of Week

DE PERE — Dave Kons, center by the St. Norbert coaching staff for the job he turned in against Carroll College last weekend.

Dave Kons

The Knights defeated Carroll, 12-7, to bring their record to 3-4. This weekend, St. Norbert (now undefeated Hillsdale is one of the Midwest's top small college games.

Kons injured a knee prior to the Knights' season opener against La Crosse State, as Saturday's game with Carroll was his first real test of the season. According to coach Howie Kolstad, "he was the outstanding lineman on the field."

Kons will receive the Ames Alonzo Stagg Award, a handsome medal awarded weekly to the St. Norbert player judged as best in the previous game by the St. Norbert coaching staff.

Dave has added some weight this season to his 6-3 frame, and now goes 235. Against Carroll, he played a key defensive role in limiting the high-scoring Pioneers.

who had scored 60 points the previous week, to a single touchdown.

He also saw limited action on offense, but Kolstad said he'll be seeing more of Kons action Saturday night at Hillsdale. Kons is a former high school star at St. John, where he played under Bill Fitzpatrick.

This is the first season that the Stagg Award has been presented. Kolstad announced that halfback Jake (Butch) Mollan, Green Bay, will receive the award for the season opener against La Crosse.

Claassen Predicts ND Will Beat Badgers

BY HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—There's a great deal of difference between a touchdown and a touchback. But this corner was totally confused on 15 of 48 decisions in last week's major college football inaugural and is handicapped by a .67 average heading into this week's predictions.

With that burden, here are this week's winners:

Southern California over Oklahoma: Equip your television set with a shatterproof screen for this meeting of the nation's No. 1 and 2 teams. The Trojans' Four Busy Bees—Boothard, Brown, Bedsole and Bame—will squeak through over the Sooners' Jim Grisham.

Alabama over Tulane: The Tulane losing streak goes on and on and on. Joe Namath, Alabama quarterback, is the reason.

Texas over Texas Tech: Tech surprised last week with its victory over Washington State but if the Raiders win this one it will be an outright miracle.

Navy over William & Mary: All those off-season rumors about the Middle powerhouse turned out to be true in the 51-7 slaughter of West Virginia—there actually are 10 other starters in Navy line-up besides Roger Staubach.

Northwestern over Indiana: Tom Myers decides.

Notre Dame over Wisconsin: Going against the odds but in the belief that the Irish will go all out in their effort to start new coach Hugh Devore off on a winning season. The home folks will help, too.

Arkansas over Missouri: A neighborhood brawl that will have national repercussions. Missouri, which suffered huge graduation leaves, needs another month to become solid.

Georgia Tech over Clemson: Claassen has nothing to compare with the Billy Lothridge-and-Mickey Babb combination of the Engineers.

Pittsburgh over Washington: It is hard to believe that the mighty Huskies of the Pacific Northwest could lose two in a row, but the coin came up heads.

Penn State over UCLA: Coach Rip Engle's Lazy Z offense isn't lazy at all.

Minnesota over Nebraska: Minnesota still has Carl Eller as the bulwark of its line.

Princeton over Rutgers: These two teams started it all, back in 1899. But this time fullback Cosmo Iacavazzi is in the Tiger line-up.

Skipping over the others: FRIDAY NIGHT

SATURDAY

EAST: Army over Cincinnati, Boston College over Wichita, West Virginia over Boston University, Columbia over Brown, Cornell over Colgate, Dartmouth over Bucknell, Delaware over Lehigh, Harvard over Massachusetts, Holy Cross over Buffalo, Penn over Lafayette, Yale over Connecticut.

SOUTH: The Citadel over Davidson, Florida over Mississippi State, Furman over George Washington, Georgia over Vanderbilt, Mississippi over Kentucky, Purdue over Miami, Texas Christian over Florida State, South Carolina over Maryland, North Carolina State over Southern Mississippi, Tennessee over Auburn, Duke over Virginia, Virginia Tech over Wake Forest.

MIDWEST: Ohio University over Dayton, Illinois over California, Iowa State over Virginia Military, Iowa over Washington State, Syracuse over Kansas, Michigan over Southern Methodist, Michigan State over North Carolina, Villanova over Toledo, Ohio State over Texas A&M.

SOUTHWEST: Baylor over Houston, Louisville over North Texas State, Louisiana State over Rice, West Texas State over Pacific.

FAR WEST: Air Force over Colorado State U., New Mexico State over Arizona State, Brigham Young over Arizona, Utah over Idaho, North Dakota over Montana, Oregon State over Colorado, San Jose over Kansas State, Oregon over Stanford, Utah State over Wyoming.

Thursday's Games
Wilson at Kimberly,
Neenah at Madison,
Roosevelt at Menasha.

Wilson and Neenah will go after victory No. 2 in the Fox Valley Freshman League football race Thursday afternoon. Kaukauna, another of the three leaders, gets a bye this week.

Wilson travels to Kimberly, and Neenah journeys to Appleton to meet Madison. Roosevelt gets its opening test when it tangles with Menasha on the Menasha gridiron.

All three of the loop leaders were shutout victors last week as Neenah trounced Menasha, 19-0; Kaukauna topped Kimberly, 20-0; and Wilson blanked Madison, 12-0.

Roosevelt had a bye in the opening week of play and coach Merlin "Smiley" Feud is still not set completely as to his starting lineup. However, a tentative lineup has Gary Schuster and Bob Dauner, at the ends, Tom Kruse and Gary Lutz, or Keith Lodholtz, at the tackles; Paul Stoeger and Kirk Anderson, at the guards, and Paul Zeimer at center.

Steve Eggert will probably start at quarterback, with Jim Kloes at fullback, Alvin Hill and Fred Ehardt, the halfbacks. Ehardt played as an eighth grader last fall. Feud plans substituting as backs.

Shawano and Two Rivers, both expected to be stronger entries than last season, will square off at Two Rivers. Shawano came back against Kimberly to score a pair of touchdowns via a passing attack and the Indians will probably take to the air more against the Raiders.

McKinley Fit For Play in 'Cup' Opener

Wimbledon Champ Set to Lead U. S. Against Britain

BOURNEMOUTH, England

(AP)—Chuck McKinley, reigning Wimbledon tennis champion, today reported himself 100 per cent fit to lead the United States against Britain in the Interzone final of the Davis Cup.

The human dynamo from San Antonio, Tex. has been nursing a back injury. Then he developed a throat infection as the American team tamed up here for the cup match, starting Thursday. The winners will play India for the honor of meeting Australia in the Challenge Round. "I don't feel any trouble in my back at all," McKinley said. "As for the throat infection, it was only slight and I stayed in bed for a day and got rid of it." The experts took it for granted that Bob Kelleher, American non-playing captain, would nominate McKinley today for the No. 1 singles position. The other singles place is between Dennis Ralston, of Bakersfield, Calif., and Frank Froehling, of Coral Gables, Fla. Britain is expected to nominate Mike Sangster as No. 1 with either Bobby Wilson or Billy Knight as No. 2.

McKinley's acrobatics at Wimbledon have made him a legend among British fans. But the critics here are not sure how he will show up on the slow shale surface at the West Hans club, where the best-of-5 series is to be played.

Dodger Championship Attributed to Hurling

LOS ANGELES (AP) — It was widely predicted that the Los Angeles Dodgers — who gave one of baseball's most memorable come-from-ahead performances in 1955 — would choke in the late going this season and, sure enough, that's exactly what they did.

First, they choked the San Francisco Giants, then they struggled the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Dodgers won three of four games from the Giants in late August and early September and three in a row from the Cardinals in mid-September. The thing that was these two critical series for them was the same thing that won them the pennant.

It certainly wasn't power. The Dodgers could hardly have hit fewer long balls if they had been playing billiards.

Better Concept
It definitely wasn't defense. The man who proposed using greenhouses for bomb shelters had a better concept of defense than the Dodgers.

What it was, of course, was pitching. Given just about any other pitching staff, the Dodgers might have had trouble leading the second division this year. They'll probably finish ahead of only five other National League clubs in team batting. They may wind up fifth or sixth in team scoring. They'll finish seventh or eighth in team home runs. And they won't be much better than eighth in team fielding.

That leaves pitching and that's where the Dodgers leave little to be desired. Their pitchers could easily finish the season with a combined earned-run average of less than 3.00.

"We had a real struggle even with the pitching," said Dodger Manager Walter Alton. "This was a team that had to bunt, steal, run and scramble to get a couple of runs. We were always scrapping."

Alton, as usual, was understanding the case. In 1952, when they finished second, the Dodgers scored 842 runs. Incredibly, they may score nearly 200 less this season while winning a pennant.

Tommy Davis, who drove in 153 runs for the Dodgers a year ago, may not drive in 95 this year. Frank Howard, who had 119 RBIs in 1952, will finish with little more than half that number this season. Willie Davis, who drove in 85 a year ago, will probably drive in 60 this season.

Bill Skowron, acquired from the Yankees last winter, didn't hit enough in the early going to stay in the starting line-up and probably won't drive in 25 runs all year. Maury Wills, who set a modern major league record by stealing 104 bases last year, has had intermittent trouble with his legs and feet this season and may finish with less than 45 steals.

"I wasn't expecting Tommy Davis to drive in 153 again," Alton said, "and I certainly didn't think Wills would steal 104 again. But you still couldn't figure runs would be this hard to get."

200 Fewer Runs
Yet, if the Dodgers score 200 fewer runs than they did a year ago, they may still finish the season with 100 more runs than were scored against them. This is a singular tribute to their pitching, especially when you consider the sometimes-deplorable Dodger defense probably will have let in 80 or 90 unearned runs by the time the season ends.

Sandy Koufax, who missed nearly half the 1962 season because of a circulatory disorder in the forearm of his pitching hand, has a chance to win 26 games this year. Don Drysdale, who won 25 a year ago, will have trouble approaching 20 this season, but Alton says Drysdale is pitching as well as he did last year and Don's ERA tends to support the manager's judgment. It's well under 3.00.

Left-hander Johnny Podres slipped after one good streak in mid-season, then pitched brilliantly in the first game of the September series in St. Louis. Right-hander Bob Miller, acquired from the New York Mets, was improving while Podres was deteriorating and southpaw Pete Richert won five in a row after being recalled from Spokane. Another left-hander, Ron Peranowski, looked just about the best relief pitcher the club ever had — either here or in Brooklyn.

This is a gamble for the Giants. Tittle has recovered from the rib injury suffered in the opening day victory over Baltimore, but he is 36 years old. And his new understudy has had just 10 minutes of pro experience, gained last Sunday in finishing up the debacle against the Steelers.

Guglielmi, 29, was the club's first choice of the Washington Redskins in 1955 and was with the club through 1960, with two years out in the Air Force. He spent 1961 with St. Louis, then was swapped to the Giants.

He will back up John Brodie for the 49ers, who have lost both their regular season games after five straight exhibition defeats. San Francisco plans to shift reserve quarterback Bobby Waters to defensive back. The team cut quarterback Sam Etcheberry and ex-Giant halfback Bobby Gaters Tuesday.

Dove, a 26-year-old former Colorado star, was a first string defensive back for the 49ers for three years, but was dropped to reserve status this season. He entered the NFL in 1958.

Giants Trade Guglielmi for 49ers' Dove

Rookie Griffing Becomes the
No. 2 Quarterback

NEW YORK (AP)—Forced into an early-season shift in manpower in their quest for a third straight Eastern Division title in the National Football League, the New York Giants have traded reserve quarterback Ralph Guglielmi.

The well-traveled former All-America from Notre Dame was sent to the San Francisco 49ers

Guglielmi Dove
Tuesday along with a 1963 draft choice for defensive back Eddie Dove.

The deal was triggered by the Giants' first regular season shut-out loss in 10 years, Sunday's 31-0 rout by Pittsburgh. Guglielmi was ineffective as the replacement for injured quarterback Y. A. Tittle, and defensive halfback Allan Webb came out of the rugged battle with a twisted knee that probably will keep him out of next Sunday's game at Philadelphia.

With Webb sidelined, the Giants could have put rookie quarterback defensive back Glynn Griffing on fulltime defensive duty and gone with two quarterbacks—Tittle and Guglielmi. Instead, they decided to promote Griffing to No. 2 quarterback and use Guglielmi as trade material for defensive secondary help.

"We think we gave Guglielmi a real chance," commented Coach Allie Sherman of the Giants. "Maybe not in game time, but in a lot of other ways. When we decided on two quarterbacks, we felt Griffing had shown enough for the job."

Waited Too Long

Little Celebrating as Dodgers Mathematically Clinch NF Flag

BY CHARLES MAHER

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Los Angeles Dodgers had just clinched their first National League pennant in four years and all but obliterated the memory of their humiliating collapse in 1962.

Clearly, this was an occasion that called for a little disorderly conduct. Tradition demanded the dressing room be left awash in champagne.

But one of the most gratifying victory celebrations in Dodger history was strangely one of the most restrained.

There was probably a wilder celebration of All Landon's campaign headquarters after the 1936 election.

More champagne has been spilled at canoe launchings.

The trouble was they waited too long to hold the party. The Dodgers actually won the pennant last week in St. Louis, when they took three straight games from the Cardinals.

Cardinals Eliminated
Worse yet, the Dodgers clinched the pennant Tuesday before they even got to the ballpark. The Cardinals were eliminated when they lost an afternoon game in the Cubs at Chicago.

Inning-by-inning reports of the St. Louis-Chicago game were broadcast by a local radio station. In the last inning, the station picked up a play-by-play account direct from Wrigley Field.

So this excited Dodger catcher John Roseboro that he slept right through it.

Dodger Manager Walter Alton was so anxious about the game in Chicago that he went to see his dentist. He was having his teeth drilled when the Cubs scored the winning runs in the eighth inning.

"Clinching that pennant hurt a little," Alton admitted.

The day's wildest demonstration may have been the one at the home of Dodger outfielder Wally Moon.

"I was out in my workshop when they picked up the broadcast of the ninth inning," Moon said. "My wife called me in. Then she went to school and took the kids out. We had a little family party."

Dietetic cola and cookies were consumed with reckless indulgence.

Moon drove in the deciding run with an eighth-inning single Tuesday night when the Dodgers scored a meaningless 4-1 victory over the New York Mets. Don Drysdale pitched seven innings for the Dodgers, allowed four hits and picked up his 19th victory.

Had to Win
"I don't think you could say we backed in," Alton told newsmen. "We played pretty good when the Giants were right on our tail and when we had to win in St. Louis."

"We might have gotten a little more kick out of it if we had won it right here ourselves by beating the Mets. But we can't feel too badly about it either way."

Manager Casey Stengel of the Mets came over to the Dodger dugout to congratulate Alton.

"I walked over here to say congratulations so I could save the price of a wire," Casey said.

"That St. Louis series I thought was amazing. No doubt they were the best club in the league when you played them, and you took all three. It's amazing."

Bill Skowron, acquired by the Dodgers from the Yankees last winter, said he figures his new club has an excellent chance against his old one.

"I'll put it this way," he said. "I'd rather be going into the series with the Dodgers than with the Yankees. Great pitching always stops good hitting."

Moon predicted the Dodgers will win the series in five or six games, but conceded there's a chance it will take seven.

Left-hander Sandy Koufax, who will start against the Yankees in the series opener a week from today, will go against the Mets tonight. Koufax, a 24-game-winner, may get one other start before the season ends Sunday.

Hilbert will be out to preserve its unbeaten record and move into a tie for first place in the Little Nine Conference when the Wolves travel to Omro for a Friday afternoon game.

League play gets underway Thursday night when Freedom will be at Shiocton. In a non-conference encounter, Fox Valley Lutheran will be at Denmark.

Other Friday afternoon games will have Reedsville at Wrightstown and Hortonville at Winneconne.

Denmark, with three straight wins, leads the league. Hilbert can be for first place with a win against Omro. However, Omro could have the momentum to stop the Hilbert machine. Omro dropped its first game of the season, a 1-point thriller to Winneconne, and since then has come back with a pair of victories.

Freedom will be aiming to stay in the running for the league crown against Shiocton. The Irish bounced back from their only defeat to beat defending champion Wrightstown, 26-0, last week and hope to hand the Chiefs their fourth straight league setback.

Winneconne and Hortonville both have 1-1 records and face "must win" situations at Winneconne Friday. The victor will move into the first division, in a position to threaten for the title.

Reedsville hopes to halt a 3-game losing streak against Wrightstown. Reedsville scored 13 points against Omro last week as the offense showed signs of coming to life.

and bombing the Los Angeles Angels 5-1.

For those who forget what the Yankees' regular line-up looks like, here's the batting order that likely will open the Series:

Tony Kubek as, Bobby Richardson 2b, Tom Tresh 1b, Mickey Vernon cf, Roger Maris rf, Elston Howard c, Joe Pepitone 3b, Chas. Brewer 2b, Whitey Ford p.

Ford brought his record to 24-7, going seven shutout innings before giving way to Ralph Terry. Elston Howard hit a three-run triple in a four-run first inning against Bo Belinsky and the Yankees rolled the rest of the way. Mantle and Maris, in and out of the line-up all year, each stroked one hit.

Drysdale, 19-17, had Ron Peranowski's relief help in beating the Mets after allowing four hits in seven innings. Wally Moon broke a 1-1 tie in the seventh with a single that drove home Marv Breeding. Moon had only one hit in 26 previous trips to the plate.

The actual end of the NL chase came in the eighth inning at Chicago. With the score tied 3-3, Ron Santo cracked a two-run single for the Cubs, snapping the deadlock and handing the Cardinals their sixth straight loss. Lindy McDaniel got the victory, Bob Gibson took the defeat.

In other NL games: Jim Maloney won his 23rd game striking out 14 in his seven-inning stint, while Vada Pinson and Frank Robinson provided homers in Cincinnati's 4-2 victory over Milwaukee. Chris Zachary and Hal Woodeshick combined on a four-hitter as Houston edged Pittsburgh 3-2 and Philadelphia defeated San Francisco 5-4 on John Herrnstein's first major league homer, a pinch-hit job with two out in the ninth.

In other AL action: Ray Herbert posted his seventh shutout with a two-hitter while the Chicago White Sox crushed Baltimore 15-0. Joe Judge hit two homers in Cleveland's 5-1 decision over Minnesota. Jim Bunning pitched an eight-inning and Don Wert homered for Detroit's 1-0 victory over Washington and Boston rode homers by Felix Mantilla and Ed Bressoud to a 5-1 triumph over Kansas City.

Lawrence Says Law Will Probe States Rights Party in South

Attacks by Group on Jews, Catholics Not Part of Race Issue

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — At last the eyes of the law are on a trouble-making group in Birmingham which has been playing a mysterious role in Alabama and elsewhere in the conglomeration of both those citizens who favor and those who oppose integration of the public schools.

Just why should an organization call itself a "National States Rights Party" and adopt a name that has been used in previous years in the south by persons who had no connection with racial demonstrations? Just why should such a comparatively new group — composed of no small extent of individuals from outside the state and Canada — issue a monthly newspaper in Birmingham which has been printing scurrilous and baseless attacks on the personal life of President Kennedy and other articles impugning the patriotic motives of prominent persons in the north, with bitter attacks especially on Catholics and Jews? What has all this to do with "states' rights?"

Some Members Indicted
A federal grand jury has just indicted some of the members of this so-called "states' rights" group—all of them white—for alleged conspiracy to interfere with a court order and some for allegedly obstructing by violence the process of law enforcement in desegregating public schools. Two white boys—arrested and charged with shooting a 13-year-old Negro boy a few hours after a Negro church was bombed on Sept. 15 in Birmingham—had just attended an impassioned rally held by the "States' rights" group.

Where does the money come from to finance such a mischief-making organization? The time would seem to be ripe for the House Committee on Un-American Activities to subpoena records and ascertain whether any foreign funds have been coming to the Birmingham group. Again and again, in different parts of the world — especially in Latin America — groups that seem to be still espousing the Hitler-Nazi doctrines are found to have close links with Communist agents. What more natural way for the Communists to stir up trouble and friction?

The whole story of how the law-abiding people of Birmingham have been maligned through such incidents as the church bombings and otherwise will sooner or later be revealed. The Federal Bureau of Investigation has not been able under federal law to delve into crimes which are in the category of state offenses and can only come into a case where some specific federal statute is involved, such as transporting dynamite across state lines. Be- fore long it is conceivable that the perpetrators of the church bombings, in fact, there are rumors that such a breakthrough is not far distant.

Reason Showing in Crisis
Meanwhile, it is reassuring to note that reason is beginning to be manifested in the racial controversy. President Kennedy has put aside demands for the use of federal troops and has sent an able team of two prominent men to Birmingham to help persuade civic leaders there that they can solve their difficulties locally by conference. As has been pointed out in these dispatches, the series of con- temptuous demonstrations and "marches" in southern cities should be halted, as they would not lead to a cooling of passions but rather to an intensification of bitter feelings among whites and Negroes.

Parents Sue for Payment Of Son's Athletic Injuries

Parents of a Seymour High School student have filed suit against the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association seeking payment of $619 for medical treatment for their son who was injured while playing football in 1961.

The suit states that Douglas Muenster, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Muenster, route 2, Seymour, was covered by the WIAA insurance program when he was kicked in the head Oct. 24, 1961 during

Needy Child 'Adopted' by Appleton Pair

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh B. Hessler Jr., 324 East Parkway Blvd., have "adopted" a needy Mexican child through the Christian Children's Fund of Richmond, Va., according to Dr. J. Calvitt Clarke, director.

"The whole experience is delightful," the Hesslers said. "We enjoy her correspondence immensely."

The child, Juana Garcia Robles, 10, lives in a CCF sponsored Salvation Army Children's home in Monterrey, Mexico. The father is dead and the mother cannot support her.

As sponsors, Mr. and Mrs. Hessler send $10 monthly toward the child's care. They are encouraged to exchange letter and Christmas cards with their "adopted" child.

Affiliated with 476 homes, the CCF represents 35 protestant denominations in 55 countries. Its income is derived mainly from individuals participating in the unique "adoption plan." It is registered with the advisory committee on voluntary foreign aid to the Agency for International Development of the U.S. Department of State.

Ad Club Hears State Agent on Fraudulent Advertising, Business

Ray Pytel, trade practices investigator for the State Department of Agriculture, outlined pitfalls of fraudulent advertising for the Fox Valley Advertising club at a meeting last week in the Conway Hotel.

Explaining his role in protecting the consumer and preventing unfair business competition, Pytel described the trade practice section of the state agency as a consultant helping to promote good business tactics.

A native of Green Bay, Pytel now lives at Madison and has been in charge of trade practice investigation in Wisconsin since 1960. He is an economics and business administration graduate of the University of Idaho.

Teachers to Meet

HORTONVILLE — The faculty of the Bethlehem Lutheran School will attend the Winnebago Teachers' Conference at Two Rivers Thursday and Friday. There will be no classes on these days.

discriminatory practices generally. The "Post" says, "Concern for civil rights and sympathy with Negroes in their struggle to realize those rights dictate a blunt, candid warning to Negro leaders. They are being urged by the organization known as the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee to change their strategy from peaceful protests, demonstrations and litigation to an organized and widespread campaign of civil disobedience and disruption of the economy. They (the Negro leaders) will be under strong temptation and pressure to pursue such a course. It is a course, we are convinced, which can lead only to destruction and disaster."

"The proposal of the student group calls for a massive, un- formed army trained and prepared to obstruct the use of government buildings, airports, highways, railroad tracks and other facilities. This 'army' would be unarmed and non-violent; it would anticipate arrests, in great numbers for the purpose of filling up jails and overtaxing the police. Although the proposed 'army' would neither attack nor resist and would make a prin- ciple of 'non-violence,' it would, of course, inevitably invite and foment violence."

Must Depend on Law
"But in the end it is upon the courts and upon the rule of law that Negroes must rely. It is fol- lowing a ruinous folly — for those who depend upon the law to deride and defy it."

"The strategy of militant civil disobedience for Negroes in the United States would impose upon them an absolute and damaging separation from the white com- munity — when the real goal of the civil rights movement is full integration."

On the Move

Charlie Doffs, Dons Poncho as He Hikes 26 Showery, Drizzly Miles

BY CHARLIE HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MARIBEL — I bit off pieces of three Wisconsin counties today — Calumet, Brown and Manitowoc — and they were too moist for proper chewing.

Dampened by showers, drizzle and mist throughout most of the day, I tramped that real estate for a total of 26 miles. Doffing and donning my rubberized poncho like a snake shedding its skin, I managed to keep dry as well as mobile. But the sunless day gave gray, dull tones to whatever autumn colors are to be seen. I had to please my senses by flushing grasshoppers from the roadside grasses and by watching woolly bear caterpillars wranking their way across the roads.

Yes, autumn is coming. I can tell because the corn is dented, the farmers are filling silos, the blackbirds are in noisy congress, a few ailing trees and sumachs are in riotous color. Furthermore I am walking and when I walk, autumn is en route.

Spring may be coming though. Today's April-like showers suggested it, and Mrs. Effie Schnell of Askeaton told me that she had picked the first sweet pea blossoms her garden has produced all summer. Nevertheless, today's spring-autumn weather was pleasant for me.

I began my march at Forest Junction, which may be notable for many things, but which was brothers grain elevator. Its companion is a catalpa tree in full fruit.

The Haese general merchandising store stands where it has stood for five generations. Now operated by Robert Haese and his sisters, Clara and Flora, the general store is almost beyond comprehension. Somewhere in its complex of ancient buildings it contains groceries, farm equipment, concrete, clothing, stationery, toys, sewing machines, hardware, building materials, coal, flour, feed, kitchen utensils, single trees, coffins or coal scuttles.

"But," said Robert "coal scuttles don't move very well these days."

Contemporary Museum

Robert, 67, bears a remarkable resemblance to the famed, earthy poet Carl Sandburg. In his own way he is as skillful. It is a local belief that Robert knows the exact whereabouts of every item in the store's vast inventory.

The old store, once headed by Robert's father, has already reached the status of a contemporary museum. The original counter — made of Wisconsin White Pine boards, 20 inches wide, are still in use. So occasionally are the family's first automobile, a 1908 six-cylinder Overland, and a canopied fringed surrey, dating to 1908.

Many of the treasures of yore, still on the old shelves are being carefully holed by the Haese family, which hopes that one day the old store may indeed become a museum. Many of Haese's customers are fifth generation ones whose great-grandfathers walked the solid oaken floors still there.

Ancient Art

My pleasure with the jolly members of the family of the diligent village cobbler was extra. Moments before a drenching rain storm came, I had given up hope of sleeping indoors and was heading for a wagon I had seen nearby, but Haczynski invited me in to see his shop, which is replete with hanging harnesses. He said, "We are not going to let you sleep outside."

gone before and as a result have smelted like a cow.

Frank Haczynski learned the ancient art of cobbling shoes and repairing harnesses from his father, John, who years ago kept a busy shop in Kishew. Frank has been operating in Forest Junction for 30 years and his workman-ship is a matter of community pride.

The little shop is reluctant of other days, but as few of his customers still use harness, Frank tries to provide harness users with needed equipment. As a result he has some elegant horse collars dusting up in storage. Anybody need 30 horse collars?

Chats With Farmer

I pounded my way out of Forest Junction in threatening weather but I cared not a whit because I feel free, unburdened and on schedule.

Along Highway 57 Mitchell Stanelle halted his fall plowing and came for a chat. Stanelle still works the field his own grandfather homesteaded in the 1850s and which his father worked for another generation.

Long ago, he said, Grandpa Stanelle cut down the pine and oak forest on his land, rolled the logs together and burned them.

It was too early for a market and there were no means of transporting logs.

In Stanelle's own time, he said, there have been great changes too. When he began to farm 30 years ago he purchased a set of twin plow shares for $5. Last week, he said, twin plow shares were listed at $25.

I hiked into Askeaton and heard an old wives' tale not to be believed. A knowledgeable fellow named Aston lived there long ago and the word was, that if anyone had a question, they should ask Aston. And that is how the little settlement got its name, so it is said. The truth is that Askeaton was founded by Irish settlers who gave it the name of a town in Ireland.

Fieldstone Tavern

I stopped to visit Ralph Norder, a Swiss American and his wife, Edie. They operate an interesting tavern, which has the "century" look. An old cheese factory dating to the time when Askeaton was an important community, it is now an attractive fieldstone tavern.

The Norders told me that jolly Irish folk settled there long ago and that many families remain. The phone book showed Irish fam-

Appoint Finance Budget Chairman For County GOP

Charles Dostal, 300 N. Vine, has been named finance and budget chairman for the Outagamie County Republican Party. John Conway, county GOP chairman announced this appointment at a meeting of the County organization this week.

6-Family Settlement

I pushed on through another wet settlement... Rosecrans, which has a population of six families, all of whom call the place, Rosecrans, with an "n" for reasons for which I cannot determine. Where did it get its name? Mrs. Adolph Polak said she had heard that long ago Rosecrans had a postmaster named Rose Crans. Mrs. Polak warned that the story was not necessarily to be believed. By me, it isn't.

Again tonight I shall be an "in-door sleeper." This time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyly Mantel of Maribel. Mantel operates a cheese factory here and — who knows — I may be able to tell you of the arts of making cheese.

Now in Maribel, where I sit scribbling today's story in my notebook in a store, one gentleman has said repeatedly that if I put his name into my story he will subscribe to this newspaper. Here it is: James Collins.

2 Flee Jail of Sports During Severe Storm

SPARTA (AP)—Two prisoners fled the Monroe County jail during a severe electrical storm early Tuesday after a watching, usually patrolling the grounds, had been brought into a garage.

They were identified as Glen Peterson, 40, of Sparta and Joseph Nelson, 47, of no permanent address, who had served two bars in a cell block corridor.

Robert Swartz, the night radio operator, said he had checked the cells at 9:15 and found nothing amiss. Three hours later Peterson's wife called the city police station and said her husband had come home, taken what money was available and left in the family car.

Peterson, arrested Sept. 20, was sentenced Monday by County Judge Lambert Hanson to a prison term of up to five years on a charge of stealing a rare coin collection from a Sparta home. The money was recovered. Nelson was arrested Sept. 4 on a morals charge and was undergoing presentence investigation.

Sheriff Arden Oss said the escapees apparently jumped from a second floor window. He said the dog, usually on a leash outside the cell block, had been put in the garage because of the storm. He said five other prisoners could have followed the escapees but chose not to.

Thousands in Securities at Appleton Home

Wattengel Cleanup Cost of $960 Billed Against Property

Several thousand dollars worth of securities and uncrashed checks were found recently in the debris at the Hubert Wattengel home, 606 N. Osada St.

Several weeks ago the city obtained a court order and permission to have the residence cleaned up after the owner refused to do so.

The Appleton State Bank was appointed by the court as the official agent to inventory all valuables.

Cost of the cleanup, $960.30, was disclosed at Tuesday's meeting of the board of public works. The amount will be assessed against the property.

The board of health originally asked for permission to get the home cleaned up, terming it a breeding place for rodents.

It was reported that 360 man hours were put in on the cleanup operation with labor cost amounting to $810. About eight city truckloads of debris and garbage were hauled away.

Unopened Mail Found among the litter were boxes of unopened mail dating back to 1945, and unopened checks that were delivered to the home as far back as 1947.

In a stack of newspapers, researchers found a $10,000 government bond. There were also 150 shares of stock in an Appleton bank strewn about one of the rooms.

Assistant City Health Officer Donald Day told the board the Appleton State Bank inventoried the valuables. He said when the sorting of the mail from papers and magazines was completed, the letters were packed into an estimated 50 to 60 boxes.

"The inside of the house was in good condition after we got through cleaning things up," Day said.

Day told the board, however, he couldn't guarantee that "things won't start piling up on the porch and in the inside again."

New Parking Ramp to Open to Public Nov. 1

The City of Appleton can expect "a new addition" to its parking structure family Nov. 1.

The word leaked out at Tuesday night's meeting of the common council's public safety committee at city hall.

City Planner Walter Rasmussen said the resident engineer for the new East Ramp, which has been under construction since the spring, will be opened to the morning public on or before the Nov. 1 target date.

Construction of the 430-car capacity split-level parking facility has been moving at a rapid pace, and the announced completion date was hailed as good news by city officials and downtown merchants.

The East Ramp, the second public off-street parking structure to be built by the city in the same number of years, is bounded by Franklin, Washington and Morrison streets and the Appleton Theater building.

3 Levels

The new ramp will have space for three levels of parking, with the top level being a parking garage. The middle level will be a parking lot, and the bottom level will be a parking lot. The ramp will be built on the site of the old city garage, which was destroyed by fire in 1954.

If in the future the city decides that it needs more off-street parking, the city will consider the possibility of building a fourth level.

Fox Valley Area Boasts 22 National Merit Semi-Finalists

Students Will Compete With 13,000 Others for Scholarships

Twenty-two Fox Valley area students were among 13,000 high school students named semifinalists today in the nation-wide competition for merit scholarships.

They became semifinalists in the 1963-1964 program through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. This test of educational development was given in more than 16,500 high schools last March.

The test is the first step toward winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to a college of the student's choice. The semi-finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories.

Semifinalists must substantiate their qualifying test performance on a second examination, be endorsed by their schools and fulfill certain routine requirements to become finalists. All Merit Scholars are selected from the finalist group.

AHS Has Eight

Eight semifinalists were named from Appleton High School. They are Susan H. Bahcall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bahcall; Christopher C. Dahl, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward C. Dahl; Clarence L. Helling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Helling; Steven A. Hubin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony S. Hubin; Lyle A. Klemman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klemman; Katie K. McMahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McMahon; David L. Pollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Pollard; and Thomas L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd E. Williams.

Semifinalists from Menasha include Roger C. Herman and James M. Walter, Menasha High School; and Mary E. Krautkramer, St. Mary Catholic High School. Neenah semifinalists are Michael D. Carey, Kathryn G. Meier, Karen E. Groth, Karen S. Ladouceur and Mary S. Pickett of Neenah High School.

Semifinalists from Oshkosh include Anthony Weizenbeck and Alan C. Williams, Lourdes Catholic High School, and Jerome Kirkpatrick and James A. Young, Oshkosh High School.

Other area semifinalists are Don E. Sebesta, Shawano Senior High School, and Richard E. Wright, Waupaca High School.

Sends Names

To increase opportunities to obtain financial assistance, they send the names of semifinalists to all accredited colleges and universities and to other scholarship granting agencies and financial aid sources. Studies show that about 50 per cent of the semifinalists obtain financial aid from sources other than the Merit program.

In past years, about 97 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition of their outstanding performance in the program. As finalists, the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by National Merit Scholarship Corp. (NMSC) corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

In this last phase of the competition, the high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities and school citizenship of the students will be evaluated along with their scores on the tests.

About April 23, 1964, the names of the Merit Scholars will be announced. The exact number depends on the extent of sponsor

Seek Thief With Muscles

Look for a muscular thief.

That's the only clue available to Appleton detectives who have been asked to find a complete set of missing barbells, taken sometime last week from a garage at 1321 S. Mason St., the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Landers.

Mrs. Landers said she noticed the set missing and asked her sons if they had loaned them to neighbors. When she learned they had not, she reported the incident to police. She valued the set at $50 and said it was "extremely heavy."

Good Government Requires Budget Control, Speaker Says

Outagamie County Officials Speak at Oshkosh Convention

OSHKOSH — Budget control is essential for knowledgeable governmental operations, business administrator Al Woehler of Outagamie County stressed at this morning's session of the Wisconsin County Boards Association convention.

He was preceded on the roster by Outagamie County Board Chairman Alvin Fulcer, who outlined the duties of the new business administrator's office which went into effect this year.

Woehler said care and judgment must be exercised by department heads and their committees and the proposals submitted must have meaning and meaning must be understood by the governing body. He said a review of budgets and practices of the various departments disclosed that two basic changes could be suggested. First was a standard format for the budgets and second was additional details.

The additional detail required reflects expenditure trends by going back two prior years of actual amounts expended. It also calls for a more realistic estimate of expected costs for the remainder of the year, not just a summary of the amount spent during the year's total.

This, of course, he said, is intended to prevent the extravagant use of a possible unexpended balance.

He also told of setting up specific categories for appropriations.

Woman to be Tried For Drunken Driving

Miss Beverly Kappell, 27, 1409 N. Bennett St., pleaded innocent Monday of drunken driving and disorderly conduct and will face trial Nov. 18 in Outagamie County Court Branch 1 where bonds of $750 were continued.

Miss Kappell was arrested Sept. 15 by county police in the Town of Ooster. She filed an affidavit of prejudice against County Judge Gustave Keller.

No Comment Offered on Postal Probe

Post-Crescent News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The U.S. Department of Justice had a "no comment" this week on its investigation into alleged irregularities concerning the pending rural carrier postal appointment at Scandinavia in Waupaca County.

Charges were made several weeks ago by two of the three top-rated Civil Service candidates for the job that they were approached by a state official from Madison and a prominent Waupaca County Democratic party member, who made overtures they step aside in favor of a lower-ranked candidate.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission, with the assistance of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, conducted a probe into the charges and filed a report with the Justice Department.

In declining comment on the Scandinavia incident, Herbert J. Miller Jr., an assistant U.S. attorney general, said it was Justice Department policy to refrain from commenting on matters referred by other governmental agencies "so long as those matters are open and actively under consideration."

Muller's comment confirmed previous reports that the Justice Department still is considering what action to take, if any, in the case.

Workshop Set for Valley Teachers

Plan Commission, UW Center To Sponsor Two Sessions for Social Studies Instructors

Social Studies teachers of high schools in the Fox Valley Area are being invited to a workshop on planning sponsored by the Ford Urban Program of The University of Wisconsin and the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

The Oct. 3 session will present the problem of the "whys of planning", discussed by Kopitzke, and the history of the state's first regional planning commission presented by Charles W. Wood, chairman of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission.

Eugene Franchett, director of the Fox Valley Regional Planning Commission, will discuss the Schellie Plan drawn up for the area. Following a coffee break, Franchett and Walter C. Rasmussen, Appleton city planner, and Clarence Brownson, Outagamie County highway commissioner, will present an illustrated discussion on "Implementation of the Expressway System."

S. F. Shattuck, one of the original leaders in community planning, will introduce the main speaker, Walter Johnson, Oct. 10; Johnson, who is director of planning of the State Department of Resource Development, will speak on "The State, The Plan Commission, and You."

Following his talk a panel discussion will be held on community planning led by Robert Thom and including F. Jabas, Neenah alderman; Giles Flanagan, Appleton Chamber of Commerce; Kenneth E. Davis, president of the Twin City News Record, and Alvin Fulcer, chairman of the Outagamie County Board.

IPC Staffer Helped Edit Lab Manual

John W. Green, member of the faculty and research staff of the Institute of Paper Chemistry, is the associate editor of one volume of a three-volume work entitled "Methods in Carbohydrate Chemistry."

The three volumes comprise a laboratory manual for use by research students and scientists in both routine and experimental carbohydrate chemistry. They were published recently by Academic Press, New York.

Green edited the third volume of the series. It is on cellulose. He is also the author of a number of its chapters.

Green

Appleton Will Check Need for Pay Increases

Department Heads' Recommendations to Be Heard Thursday

The first step in determining whether city employees will be in line for pay raises or job reclassifications in 1964 will be taken Thursday by the common council's personnel committee.

Starting at 8 a.m. and continuing through 4 p.m., the committee will receive the pay recommendations of department heads.

Three youths are being questioned about vandalism done by a can of spray paint to garages, houses and other property in the 1500 block of N. Elinor Street Tuesday night.

Cornerstone Laying Rites Set for Neenah Library

NEENAH — Cornerstone laying ceremonies in the construction of the new Neenah library have been scheduled for 2:30 p.m. Oct. 13, on recommendation of the committee from the Neenah Public Library board. Shares Rise in Heavy Trade
Profit-Taking in Wake of Upturn in Blue Chips

NEW YORK (AP)—A powerful upsurge by blue chips was followed by profit taking, but the stock market remained higher in heavy trading early this afternoon.

The ticker tape lagged behind transactions as the Dow Jones industrial average swept above the significant level of 750 in mid-morning, then ebbed below it.

Enthusiastic buying of a number of the glamorous office equipment and photographic stocks brought them early gains but many of these were wiped out in the wave of profit taking.

Board Member Says Schools Must Increase Efficiency

School systems must find ways to increase the productivity of teachers, Charles Bushman, a member of the Appleton Board of Education, said during budget discussions this week.

"The only way industry can remain competitive is to increase the productivity of people," he said. "I think in the long run the school system must do this, too."

"I think we can increase efficiency," he said. "It is a gradual, evolutionary thing. Sometimes I think the teaching profession moves ponderously, through committees, but they are developing ways."

Perhaps the school board can suggest to the administration how teachers can be used more effectively, he said. Possible ways, he noted, could be the use of graders or of lower-paid persons supervising homerooms and handling other non-teaching duties now assigned to teachers.

He said he was pleased when touring the new Kimberly High School to see provisions made to take care of "what education might be like in the future," such as the provision of installation of closed circuit television.

Miss Klumeyer is active with the urban planning groups in her county and is a member of the committee on the Urban Ford Foundation Neenah - Menasha Project.

She is also active in professional and service groups in her community. She has held offices and committee appointments in state home economics and extension organizations. Miss Klumeyer, a former Rock County 4-H club member, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klumeyer, route 2, Evansville.

Street Extension Problem Unsolved

Appleton Boards Advise No
Land Purchase for Streets

Appleton's board of public works and plan commission, in a joint meeting Tuesday afternoon, recommended that the City of Appleton not engage in the purchase of land for streets.

The meeting was prompted by a request from the owners of the Colony Oaks Subdivision that the city take some action so underground utilities can be installed. City officials originally attempted to work out an agreement between the Colony Oaks owners, Clarence Baetz and Eugene Garvey.

It was assumed a compromise

Police Pressed By Flood of Bad Checks

Youth Is Held for Attempting to Pass
Four Stolen Checks

Appleton police are up to their official necks in "phony paper."

All available detectives today were working on several incidents reported in the past three days of bad check business who have hit several business places.

Meanwhile, police are holding a 15-year-old high school youth who attempted to pass a stolen check in an Appleton bank during his noon lunch break Tuesday.

After he was held by the bank employees who alerted police, the youth went to the Appleton police station where he ran away from his captors. He was captured after a three-block chase in the vicinity of City Park.

Checks Stolen

The youth told police he found four checks in a purse taken Monday from an automobile owned by Mrs. Donald Spreeman, 307 E. Wilson St. He dumped the contents of the purse on a lawn and kept four checks which had been signed by Mrs. Spreeman. Tuesday he attempted to cash one for $26 at an Appleton bank, but a clerk recognized the check as having been reported stolen and notified her superior. The youth was then detained and police were called.

Doering's Super Valu store on Walter Avenue was hit hardest by perhaps three different passers, one who used a salesman's specimen check with the words "Specimen Void" crossed out by a pen. Total amount of worthless checks passed at the supermarket was $285. One of the checks, which may have originated in Memphis, Tenn., has been turned over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation agents.

Suspect sought

Two smaller checks for $15 and $20 were turned up in Shue's Super Bar, 342 W. College Ave., and may have been passed Sunday while patrons were watching the Green Bay Packer-Detroit Lions football game. Police said a suspect is being sought for the two checks and that a warrant is on file for the man for several checks passed in Appleton earlier.

Detectives said other checks may turn up later this week as business places process their checks taken over last weekend through the banks.

Committees From 2 Counties Discuss Sanatorium Budget

OSHKOSH — Institutions committees from Winnebago and Fond du Lac counties met Tuesday night with trustees of Sunny View Sanatorium to prepare the sanatorium budget for 1964.

Several capital outlay expenditures agreed upon for submission to the respective county boards are to install an auxiliary transformer for the electrical system at a cost of about $771 and to remodel the examination office at a cost of about $515.

It also was decided to request that storm windows be secured for the sanatorium which up to now has not had such windows.

The committees were advised also that this last fiscal year has seen an increase in the number of patient-weeks at the sanatorium.

Greenville Grange Has Booster Night Program

GREENVILLE — The South Greenville Grange had its annual booster night message from the national master, Herschel Newsom.

Corsages were presented to the golden sheaf members, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schroeder, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Anderson, Lester Anderson, Wallace Pingel and Mrs. August Julius.

Mrs. Wallace Pingel and Mrs. August Julius gave a tableau with Gardner Huesey singing.

"Three Modern Bears" was a skit presented by Ben Wickeshad been reached when the school board agreed to give a strip of land to the city for street purposes (extension of Edgemore Street), but Baetz balked at the proposal. He said he would dedicate a portion of his land only if the city would grant him immunity from future assessments.

Developers' Problem

On the recommendation of Public Works Commissioner Robert W. Bues, the two municipal bodies decided Tuesday to "wash their hands" of the matter, contending it was up to the developers to get together.

The city took the position it would install facilities when the developers could turn over the land needed for putting in Edgemore Street, which would eventually serve a school site.

Owners of Colony Oaks, which has 325 lots, said they complied with all of the city's wishes in platting and laying out streets in the subdivision. They contended it was not their fault if another property owner refused to deed the necessary land for a portion of the street.

No Services

Since the entire subdivision was annexed to the city two years ago, the owners have paid the city $21,000 in taxes without receiving municipal services. They objected to this and the fact the subdivision could not be developed because of lack of sewer facilities.

Baetz said he was willing to sell land for the street for $2,500, but would not donate it.

It was disclosed the street dedication controversy extending over the past several months has also held up development of the Crestview Subdivision which consists of 80 lots.

In other action, the board of public works agreed to interview architects interested in preparing plans for the proposed new municipal garage starting Nov. 1.

1963 of the Merit Program. In 1963 NMSC and sponsors together awarded about 1,500 Merit Scholarships.

Four-Year Award

Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The recipient's stipend is tailored to his need.

Awards may reach a maximum of $6,000 for the four years of college. For students who already possess financial resources which will enable them to attend the college of their choice, the awards are $400 for the four years. Still, the average award is about $850 a year.

A Merit Scholarship is also a form of "educational insurance" for the student who receives it, because the amount of the stipend will be increased at any time if there is a significant change in college cost or in his family's financial situation.

Finalists designate the college they wish to attend and the course of study they plan to pursue. The colleges chosen by the Merit Scholars in most instances also receive supplementary grants.

NMSC and sponsors have thus far contributed about $17 million in direct financial assistance to Merit Scholars and their colleges. This amount is exclusive of the 4,000 Merit Scholars now in college.

Started in 1955

The Merit Program was established in 1955 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. In 1962 the Ford Foundation announced an additional grant to continue the program through 1970.

Nearly 7,500 Merit Scholars have been appointed to date. In addition, through the program's special services, thousands of other outstanding participants have been helped in obtaining aid from other sources, and colleges have been assisted in their efforts to locate the intellectually able.

"The future leaders of our nation will be found among young people who have the qualities and aspirations represented by these semifinalists," said John M. Stal-naker, NMSC president. "They not only are intellectually able, but characteristically they are also ambitious, energetic and resourceful. In honoring them we pay credit, too, to the families, teachers and communities which have aided them in their efforts to succeed."

The National Merit Scholarship Corp. stresses that the quality or effectiveness of a school cannot be judged solely by the number of its semifinalists because of several other considerations, including the caliber of the students who enroll.

Racine Suspect Worked Summer In Waupaca Area

A Kenosha man being sought by Racine police for a shooting early Saturday morning in Racine worked throughout the summer at a farm in Waupaca County but has not returned to pick up his clothing after the shooting.

Sheriff L.A. Jack Frenzl said today he had gone to the Waupaca County farm with the idea that Felix S. Rangel, 28, may have been there after he left the city of Racine following the shooting and wounding of Alfredo Garcia, 26, in a tavern.

Outagamie County sheriff officials were alerted to Rangel's possible whereabouts Saturday after the shooting. Rangel has several relatives in the area.

Frenzl said today that Rangel was at the farm as late as last Wednesday and returned to Kenosha for the weekend. Frenzl said the man has a tattoo mark of a crucifix on his forehead and would not be hard to identify. A warrant charging Rangel with attempted murder has been issued by Racine police.

How Cool Is the Cold War?

The exchange of talks between Russia's premier Khrushchev and President Kennedy before the United Nations reflected the lull in the cold war. But they really indicated nothing about the course the two nations will take in the future.

Khrushchev was friendly, avoided much criticism of western capitalists and war-mongers, and suggested a continuation of disarmament talks with the inclusion of France. There was nothing in his talk which could not be gradually changed when and if the Soviet Union wants to take a tougher line once again.

As President Kennedy said, the "clouds have lifted a little." But let us not forget that the Wall still stands in the middle of Berlin. There are no fewer Poles, Germans and Hungarians who chafe under their chains and dream of freedom. There are still Russian troops in Cuba.

The current lull is caused in part by the Russian conflict with Red China. It gives us time to breathe and to relax a little but it does not mean that the cold war is at an end. The enemy may have stopped shooting only so that they could have time to reload.

Confusion Continues in Viet Nam

The continued confusion about what is going on in Viet Nam may reflect not only the difficulty of getting news within the country and getting it out but what appears to be the divided command in Viet Nam and the divided opinion in Washington. It appears to be dangerously close to the confusion that led to the disaster at the Bay of Pigs.

Much of our trouble with the actual war in Viet Nam against the Red Viet Cong stems from our lack of authority. United States troops are ostensibly in the country to teach guerrilla tactics and to transport Vietnamese troops to combat in helicopters. But American involvement is much greater as the growing casualty lists indicate. And the direction of the war is handled by the Vietnamese with only the amount of American advice they want to accept.

This is in considerable contrast to the successful war against Communist infiltration and jungle guerrillas conducted in Malaya. The British had command and there was no uncertainty about it. It is true that the Malaysians had primarily Chinese to fight while the ethnic make-up of the Viet Cong is identical to that of the South Vietnamese. But as long as British troops were leading the fighting, the British officers were in control.

Of even greater concern has been the contradictory reports on the situation in Viet Nam coming from official American sources, United States newsmen in Viet Nam, the Nhu family and the United States Information Agency. Apparently military authorities and the Civil Intelligence Agency think the war against the Viet Cong is going great guns. Moreover, they consider that the important element at present and far more serious than whether or not President Diem has the support of the majority of Vietnamese. They tend to minimize the Buddhist revolt and the tactics used to put it down. Former Ambassador Frederick Nolting appeared to subscribe to this point of view.

But reports also indicate that the spokesman for the State Department and officials of the USIA as well as the new ambassador, Henry Cabot Lodge, believe that a threat to cut off our million dollar per day aid to South Viet Nam might have a beneficial effect. They consider the lack of popular support for the Diem regime as serious and that there is little to choose between oppression by the Nhu family and oppression by the Communists.

From this distance it appears that if we consider the war in Viet Nam of primary importance, then we ought to be in the driver's seat. It would have been far easier to have gone into Viet Nam in the first place with the understanding that our military assistance included military control. But it should not be too late to take over command if some way of emphasizing the importance can be demonstrated to President Diem or whoever is running the country. Certainly the threat to pull out American troops and cut off aid could be tried if we intended to carry out the threat. Diem might make accommodations with the North Viet Nam government as the French have suggested, but it is unlikely.

Unfortunately President Kennedy has shown a dangerous tendency in situations like this to let things go for so long that chaos develops. That is what happened to the ill-fated invasion of Cuba. And it came close to happening again less than a year ago when the Administration refused to believe well documented reports that Russia had moved a lot of men and missiles into Cuba. The relief of the President, shared by all Americans, when the Russians did dismantle their missiles, prompted an easing of pressure which might have settled the Cuban situation instead of permitting it to linger on.

No one can underestimate the problems of moving in to help a country like Viet Nam fight a war. Defeat of Communists anywhere in the world is important. Persuading people who may not even understand the dangers of Red aggression to fight is not easy.

But in how many areas of the world can United States troops hold back Communist invaders? We now maintain a military dictatorship in South Korea, something that is far removed from our ideas of liberty and justice. And we appear to be doing much the same in Viet Nam. If the government of President Diem should be overthrown and the north wooed, United States troops in the area would be in an intolerable position.

President Kennedy's vague advisors ought to go home. If we are going to fight wars, we should have command of them.

Bright, Blue Weather

Autumn arrives overnight in Wisconsin or so it seems. One afternoon everything is still green and warm. The next morning the breeze has become a wind with a nip in it and the sumac had turned to scarlet. The fields are gold, bronze and deep purple while the maples are full of yellow and red leaves among the stubborn green.

Long before the first frost comes on an early Wisconsin morning, the trees and bushes are declaring in the loudest possible terms that summer is gone. Even nature seems to stand in silent awe at the brilliant display. The birds are silent as they flit through the coloring trees. The river is barely rippled by the north wind that somehow smells just a little of snow. Only the crickets play on, their choruses growing in number and tone as the evening approaches.

As much as spring, autumn has impressed poets with the wonders of creation. "Earth's crammed with Heaven," wrote Robert Browning. "And every common bush affire with God."

It's a time to stop a moment or two and gaze and reflect and be glad the beauty is ours to behold.

U. S. Taxpayer Is All That Keeps United Nations Going

BY HENRY J. TAYLOR

The day Nikita Khrushchev used the opening of the United Nations General Assembly to pound on the world with his shoe, the USSR was in arrears $17 million.

Now the Assembly has opened again and the Soviet owes still more. So do most other members. And the proceeds of the bond issue have gone to the wind.

These arrears arise in several ways. Some date back to 1958. Others are disputed. But whether disputed or not the end result is the same: America's taxpayers make up the difference while the debtors talk and talk and pass the buck.

We're entitled to a report on the bond issue, for example. The first idea called for an underwriting of the entire $200 million issue by the United States alone. But Congress balked, refusing to understand why other nations shouldn't pay their own bills if honestly interested in the U. N., at least to the point of divvying up their share.

MATCHED ALL OTHERS

Nevertheless, our country agreed to contribute as much as all other U. N. nations combined. Congress simply insisted that our taxpayers be committed only to match all bond purchases of other members up to $100 million.

The USSR and its bloc, bent on world destruction, laughed off the bonds entirely. In addition, it's hard to get a nickel for anything from numerous other countries that nevertheless supply their U. N. delegates with limousines, New York penthouses and what have you.

In nations where three-hour lunches and nine daily coffee breaks prevail or where the delegates are just off burros' backs and into Cadillacs any kind of collection takes forever.

Further, the organization was founded with only 51 countries, now more than doubled. And on the basis of voting adhesions and general affiliations its make-up today is a mad hatter's dream.

The 111 member nations fall roughly into 11 elements: The Soviet bloc, the British Commonwealth, the European Community, Western European, Scandinavian, African, Afro-Asian, Arab, the so-called Casablanca Group, Brazzaville Group and Latin America. Buying the money question is duck soup in an assortment like that.

Accordingly, let's take a look at the bond sale's results: The issue was launched March 8, 1962. Hardly known to our public, member nations were even allowed to pay for the bonds in their own currency. Yet the controller's office of the U. N. tells me less than half the 111 governments came across. Only $72.5 million of the $200 million are sold, after a year and six months. So, we've bought that same amount, thus boosting the total to $145 million.

MOST CAME FROM FIVE

Among the 111 countries, more than two-thirds of the money came from only five: Great Britain $12 million, Germany (not a member) $10 million, Italy $9.9 million, Canada $6.4 million, Sweden $5.8 million.

The nations' arrears in the three main classifications have now reached $179 million. Thus, except for our taxpayers, down would come baby, cradle and all.

Nevertheless, the controller's office also confirms that the U. N. will spend an added $1 million on enlarging its staffs this year and $2 million more on its new buildings. Moreover, it will boost its new budget to $95 million, plus $100 million for specialized agencies.

This leaves our taxpayers paying more than 60 per cent of the over-all costs, which is even illegal for one country under the U. N. Charter, as well as 40 per cent of the economic planning fund, 70 per cent of the emergency forces costs and every last penny of most special research projects.

Now, the free-riding delinquents know they can get away with it. We've taught them that, although this is no way for us to win friends, influence people and deserve respect.

If we would call a spade a spade on the money issue, once and for all, among the delinquent countries outside the Soviet Bloc — for these are the majority — to prove how much they really want the U. N. to survive, we would be more respected and come closer to our mission of honest international collaboration.

Great Inequalities in Education Opportunity Still Exist in State

MADISON — In Wisconsin as in other states, we have been obliged to face pressing problems in the field of education. What has brought prosperity to home builders, clothing and toy manufacturers who supply the needs of increasingly large numbers of children, has brought problems to school boards, city councils and legislatures that must provide tax funds for additional teachers and school buildings. Moreover, additional demands upon the schools to better prepare our youth for a nuclear age has caused good schools to require better educated teachers and a better equipment which results in higher school costs.

Fortunately, most people have encouraged and supported a program to provide not only for the increased enrollment but for

Mr. Rothwell has been involved in the public schools of Wisconsin during his entire adult life and is now the chief officer in the system as state superintendent of public instruction.

Improved quality of education as well. While the strain on the tax dollar has been significant, it has not denied many citizens the luxuries of life. Most taxpayers understand that as increasingly large numbers of better educated graduates become workers, the tax load will be shared on a much broader base.

INEQUALITY REMAINS

What is not commonly understood, however, is the great inequality of educational opportunity that still exists in Wisconsin. Even many of our legislators had thought that the passage of 1961 legislation would eliminate all of Wisconsin's one and two room schools. At this moment we still have 119 one room schools each with its own school board and numerous inefficient small high schools. In several of these one room schools, water is still carried to the school in milk cans; outdoor toilet facilities are all that are available; and teachers often with the least training are required to teach all eight grades. In many of our very small high schools, teachers are required to make five different preparations each day and carry a substantial part of the extracurricular load as well. Several offer no foreign language, no art or music, meager library facilities and a poor program of physical education.

The State of Wisconsin has a heritage in which its citizens have taken great pride. Our state will be no better than we make it through the education of our children.

and appreciates things I do not even see on the field.

Then why do so many people have a terrible defensiveness about the arts? Painting, music, drama, literature — these are all crafts, like football and baseball and sailing. They have their rules, their standards, their forms.

If it is a matter of fact that Notre Dame's football is better than that of St. Ignace High School, it is equally a fact that Beethoven's music is better than Grieg's and Picasso's paintings better than Grandma Moses'. To become an expert in music or painting is merely to learn the reason why.

In some things, of course, there is no disputing taste. If I like chocolate ice cream and red-headed women, and you like vanilla ice cream and dark-haired women, there is no "better" or "worse."

But all the arts and crafts, from football to music, have their own levels of value. We can make objective judgments, in a broad sense. We cannot say Beethoven is "better" than Mozart, but we can say that either is better than Humperdinck. Northwestern may be roughly equal, but either is better than Swash.

Most people, of course, defend "personal taste" in the arts because it permits them to be lazy and ignorant without losing face. But they are the same people who look upon me with great contempt because I can't see the plain fact that one team is infinitely superior to another.

He would defend his liking bad music instead of good as "merely a matter of taste." He would defend his attendance at ill-made plays as "one man's opinion," and call me a cultural dictator for insisting that only knowledge gives us a right to hold an opinion.

When the situation is reversed, however, he has no doubt that his evaluation of football teams is better than mine — as, indeed, it is. He has studied the game, knows its fine points.

Crescent Pens 3-Way Political Job

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Oct. 3, 1863.

The Appleton Motor (which, by the way, is always compelled to go beyond its own resources for thunder) quotes the Madison Journal (the most notorious falsifier in the West) to prove that Mr. Lincoln did not favor a Compromise in his Inaugural Address.

Let our readers may have forgotten precisely what Mr. Lincoln did say touching that subject, we make the following extracts from said document:

"Suppose you go to war, you cannot fight always and when, after much loss on both sides, and no gain on either, you cease fighting, the identical question as to terms of intercourse are again upon you."

The Motor and the State Journal will find this at the latter portion of the 9th paragraph of the Inaugural!

In his key-note letter to the Springfield meeting, Old Abe said, "compromise is impossible." Such is Republican consistency!

While we are on the subject, we would advise every man in the Country to procure a copy of Mr. Lincoln's Inaugural and read it — read it carefully — and you will perceive how easily it is for Republicans to perjure themselves before their Country and their God.

Here is another extract verbatim.

"I have no purpose, directly or indirectly, to interfere with the institution of slavery in the states where it exists. I believe I have no lawful right to do so, and I have no inclination to do so."

Did the President tell the truth then, or did he not? How does the emancipation proclamation agree with the foregoing declaration? Which time did Old Abe falsify?

In the primary election the previous day, Gov. Philip LaFollette won re-nomination for his fourth term and was to face Democratic gubernatorial choice Robert K. Henry and Republican Julius P. On the international scene, the Czechoslovak government announced officially its acceptance of the Anglo-French plan for meeting the peace terms of Adolf Hitler. At the same time, there was bitter opposition to the appeasement plan. Britisher Anthony Eden said that continued retreat could lead to ever-widening confusion, while Winston Churchill, conservative elder statesman, said the "idea that safety can be purchased by throwing a small state to the wolves is a fatal delusion."

The Twelve members of the General review Club in Appleton opened its program season with a bridge-dinner at the Copper Kettle. Prizes at bridge were won by Mrs. Wilmer Reibben, Mrs. F. J. Leonard, Mrs. Barrett Gochnauer and Mrs. O. R. Busch.

Democrats Expect To Defeat GOP on Spending Ceiling

Look for Support From Many Members of Southern Wing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats are confident they can defeat a Republican effort to nail a government spending lid onto President Kennedy's $11-billion tax reduction measure when the bill comes up for a House vote today.

"We are optimistic," said Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, the Democratic leader.

If both the House and Senate approve the measure, the proposed cuts would begin to be felt in paychecks next January. Ultimately the reduction would range between $100 and $200 a year for most taxpaying families — more in the upper brackets. Two-thirds would go into effect next Jan. 1, the rest a year later.

No Early Senate Vote

But passage of the bill intact in the House would still leave a long, hard road ahead.

The Senate Finance Committee may not begin hearings on the tax legislation before mid-October and an expected protracted civil rights fight could delay the tax bill almost indefinitely.

Democratic leaders were heartened by the apparent willingness of many members of the party's Southern wing to go along in opposition to the spending limit. Even some Democrats who oppose the tax cut bill itself were reported ready to vote against the Republican motion.

GOP Strong for Curb

The administration can better afford to lose Democratic votes on passage of the bill. Many Republicans are expected to vote for it, whether or not the limitation is attached. But the GOP ranks are practically solid in support of the spending curb amendment.

Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., chairman of the Ways and Means Committee which wrote the tax legislation, was reported to have advised Democratic House leaders to let him handle the job of persuading Southerners.

A highly influential Southern Democrat, Mills told associates

R. F. Kennedy Testifies at Crime Probe

Attorney General Tells of Activities By Syndicate in U. S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate probe into the dark workings of a national crime syndicate opened today with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy telling of its secret meetings, assassinations and the chance of a major underworld power struggle in New York.

As the first witness, Kennedy set the stage for the Senate Investigations subcommittee's hearings into organized crime which he called "one of the biggest businesses in America."

Getting a look at its clandestine operations is difficult because of the curtain of fear, he explained.

"This is one reason the disclosures made by Joseph Valachi are significant," he said. "For the first time an insider — a racketeer hierarchy — has broken the underworld's code of silence."

Russia Ratifies Nuclear Treaty

MOSCOW (AP) — The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet today ratified the limited nuclear test ban treaty—24 hours almost to the minute after the U. S. Senate acted.

Tass reported the vote in the 33-member body was unanimous, which everyone had expected.

The Presidium, under the Soviet constitution, has the power to act when the Supreme Soviet itself is not in session. Its decrees are rubber-stamped when the full body meets which is usually in December.

Rusk will meet with British Foreign Secretary Lord Home Thursday morning and with Home and West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder on Friday.

Rusk and Home will sit down with Gromyko Saturday at a "working luncheon" in Rusk's hotel suite. It will be the first major East-West political parley since the signing of the limited nuclear test-ban treaty Aug. 5.

U. S. sources said that while Rusk, Home and Schroeder may touch on such matters as the proposed multilateral nuclear force, main attention will be devoted to issues coming up with Gromyko.

Rusk was reported to have told Dahomey Foreign Minister Emile D. Zinsou Tuesday not to expect wide East-West agreement during the current session of the U.N. General Assembly.

Kennedy Favors Creating Lake Superior Federal Park

Includes Apostle Islands In 72,000-Acre Addition to State's Recreation Region

President John Kennedy shakes hands with members of the crowd as he mounts a speakers' platform Tuesday at Ashland, following a helicopter tour of nearby Apostle Islands, suggested as a national park site. BY HARVEY BREUSCHER

ASHLAND (AP) — Northern Wisconsin was a presidential trip closer today to having a national park added to its bundle of tourist attractions.

A 72,000-acre complex encompassing the historic and scenic Apostle Islands off the south shore of Lake Superior was the proposed site and President John F. Kennedy made it known that he thought the territory deserved the distinction.

Survey By Helicopter

The President viewed the area Tuesday from an Army helicopter. He said he was impressed by the white sand beaches gracing the shoreline of the world's largest fresh water lake and commented that the Apostles reminded him of the sea-swept reaches of Cape Cod.

More than 5,000 persons were on hand to greet the President when he touched down at Ashland Airport following the aerial inspection. The helicopter swing from the Land and People Conference in Duluth, Minn., took about an hour, and half the time was devoted to examining the autumn-blazed terrain.

Praises Nelson

A thunderstorm threatened the President's course but it was skirted and added only to the distance of the trip around the islands, named by a French trader who mistakenly thought there were only 12 of them.

At Ashland, the heavy dark skies held for the 25 minutes needed to introduce the President and hear him say, "If properly developed, recreational activities and new national parks, forests and recreational areas here can bolster your economy and provide enjoyment for many millions of people for many years to come."

Kennedy credited U. S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., for interesting him in the area and said Wisconsin was "fortunate" because its state government has already made a detailed study of the Lake Superior south shore.

Nelson is preparing legislation that would give the area national park status, and buoyed by the President's comments, the senator volunteered that the project could become reality in less than a year.

"Bargain Price"

Nelson said the President was astounded at the modest amount needed to purchase the islands—which the senator said was the "bargain price" of $500,000.

Kennedy was the second president to visit the area, and made reference to a 1928 fishing junket by Calvin Coolidge.

"Coolidge was here for some weeks and didn't say anything. I was here several times during the 1960 campaign and I talked all the time," Kennedy said.

Ashland Mayor Harry Simon saw both presidents and called Kennedy's stop a "working visit."

Seeks Parity of Opportunity For Farmers

BY FRANK CORMIER

GRAND FORKS, N.D. (AP) — President Kennedy, stressing local pocketbook issues on his Western speaking tour, called today for a "new farm goal—parity of opportunity" with city folk.

Kennedy accepts an honorary degree today from the University of North Dakota at Grand Forks—and makes the fourth of 12 speeches on his 10,000-mile trip.

Prior to the President's departure from Duluth, Minn., the traveling White House made public the text of his Grand Forks speech, in which Kennedy said: "Parity of farm income is important—but beyond that, we are gradually achieving a parity between urban and rural peoples in other aspects of life."

Proposes "Parity"

Kennedy said his administration supports programs that "comprise the charter of the new farm goal—parity of opportunity—light and power at costs comparable to that in the city—economic and industrial opportunities without leaving the farms and towns—housing equal to that in metropolitan areas—and adequate facilities and opportunities for recreation."

At Duluth Tuesday night, Kennedy also bore down on a local problem—depressed conditions in the Minnesota iron mining coun-

Australia Ready To Aid Malaysia

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Already backed by Britain in its dispute with Indonesia, Malaysia today was promised military aid by Australia if it is invaded.

Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies made the pledge in laying before Parliament the text of a defense commitment with the new federation. He said Australian forces also are committed to help resist subversive activity in Malaysia.

Menzies made no reference to Indonesia. He said all nations concerned had been informed of Australia's decision.

Vetoes Bill on Non-Resident Exemptions

MADISON (AP) — Saying the proposal would have exempted most non-residents from Wisconsin income taxes, Gov. John W. Reynolds announced Tuesday the veto of a bill intended to remove inequities from the state's tax withholding system.

The Department of Taxation and the Legislature had attempted to correct a provision which required out of state employers to withhold Wisconsin taxes from their workers who earn part of their income in Wisconsin. The law applied to professional athletes and entertainers.

Finds Bill Too Broad

The bill would have exempted from state income taxes a non-resident who performs services in Wisconsin in the course of interstate commerce or on an irregular basis.

"The exemption is far too broad," said the governor in his veto message. "Wisconsin cannot afford to exempt from taxation the income of all non-residents who earn part or most of their wages while in Wisconsin."

The governor said he realized there was a need for corrective legislation on the point, but said "this bill is not the answer." Reynolds signed into a law measures that exempt from personal property tax trappings stored for aging and prohibit a person from owning both wholesale and retail liquor licenses.

West Seeks U.N. Funds to Keep Force in Africa

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Racing against an Oct. 1 deadline, the United States and other Western nations today sought General Assembly action to raise $25 million to keep the U.N. peace force in the Congo until next June.

The move won support from the 32-nation African group. It is framing an appeal to Secretary-General U Thant to extend for six months the Dec. 31 target date for liquidating the U.N. force.

The problem of raising money to keep the force in the field was the prime concern as the assembly's 111-nation finance committee gathered for its first meeting of the 18th session.

Thant has warned that he will pull out the 7,000 troops in the Congo by year's end, unless the assembly approves maintenance costs within the next week.

U. S. Studies Tax Credits to Give Boost to Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax credits for greater exports were under study at the Treasury and Commerce departments today as a possible inducement to harder selling overseas of made-in-U.S.A. goods.

The plan is similar to the investment tax credit enacted last year, which officials say has helped to stimulate the outlays of industry for new plant machinery and equipment.

The export credit idea emerged from a committee of about 30 industrialists in closed meetings last week at the White House conference on export expansion, where President Kennedy called for a 10 per cent increase in exports.

The committee's report, made public Tuesday by Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, along with other export-boosting proposals from the conference, said an export tax incentive "should be recognized as necessary to overcome our immediate balance of payments deficit."

The only sign of a military takeover was the posting of a machine gun in the square in front of the presidential palace. Police guarded the headquarters of the leftist parties.

All stores and factories were closed.

Bosch became president in February, taking over from an interim regime that ran the country after the overthrow of dictator Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas Trujillo.

The military radio said "an eminent citizen" would be named to take Bosch's place.

Aerobee Rocket Shot High Into Ionosphere

WALLOPS ISLAND, Va. (AP) — An Aerobee rocket carrying an 185-pound instrument package of United States-Japanese experiments was fired 139 miles into the ionosphere today.

Fox Valley Area Boasts 22 National Merit Semi-Finalists

Students Will Compete With 13,000 Others for Scholarships

Twenty-two Fox Valley area students were among 13,000 high school students named semifinalists today in the nation-wide competition for merit scholarships.

They became semifinalists in the 1963-1964 program through their outstanding performance on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. This test of educational development was given in more than 16,500 high schools last March.

The test is the first step toward winning a four-year Merit Scholarship to a college of the student's choice. The semi-finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and in United States territories.

Semifinalists must substantiate their qualifying test performance on a second examination, be endorsed by their schools and fulfill certain routine requirements to become finalists. All Merit Scholars are selected from the finalist group.

AHS Has Eight
Eight semifinalists were named from Appleton High School. They are Susan H. Bahcall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bahcall; Christopher C. Dahl, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward C. Dahl; Clarence I. Helling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Helling; Steven A. Hubin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony S. Hubin; Lyle A. Klemm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Klemm; Katie K. McMahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McMahon; David L. Pollard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Pollard; and Thomas L. Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd P. Williams.

Semifinalists from Menasha include Roger C. Herman and James M. Walter, Menasha High School, and Mary E. Krautramer, St. Mary Catholic High School. Neenah semifinalists are Michael D. Casey, Kathryn Gallmeier, Karen E. Groth, Karen S. Ladouceur and Mary S. Pickett of Neenah High School.

Semifinalists from Oshkosh include Anthony Weitenbeck and Alan C. Williams, Lourdes Catholic High School, and Jerome Kirkpatrick and James A. Young, Oshkosh High School.

Other area semifinalists are Don E. Sebesta, Shawano Senior High School, and Richard D. Wright, Waupaca High School.

Sends Names
To increase opportunities to obtain financial assistance if they need it, the Merit Corporation sends the names of semifinalists to all accredited colleges and universities and to other scholarship-granting agencies and financial aid sources. Studies show that about 50 per cent of the semifinalists obtain financial aid from sources other than the Merit program.

In past years, about 97 per cent of the semifinalists have become finalists. All finalists receive a Certificate of Merit in recognition of their outstanding performance in the program. As finalists, the students will be eligible for scholarship awards sponsored by National Merit Scholarship Corp. (NMSC) corporations, foundations, colleges, unions, trusts, professional associations and individuals.

In this last phase of the competition, the high school grades, creative accomplishments, leadership qualities, extracurricular activities and school citizenship of the students will be evaluated along with their scores on the tests.

About April 23, 1964, the names of the Merit Scholars will be announced. The exact number depends on the extent of sponsor support of the Merit Program. In 1963 NMSC and sponsors together awarded about 1,500 Merit Scholarships.

Four-Year Award
Each Merit Scholarship is a four-year award to cover the undergraduate college years. The recipient's stipend is tailored to his need.

Awards may reach a maximum of $6,000 for the four years of college. For students who already possess financial resources which will enable them to attend the college of their choice, the awards are $400 for the four years. Stipends now average about $850 a year.

A Merit Scholarship is also a form of "educational insurance" for the student who receives it, because the amount of the stipend will be increased at any time if there is a significant change in college cost or in his family's financial situation.

Finalists designate the college they wish to attend and the course of study they plan to pursue. The colleges chosen by the Merit Scholars in most instances also receive supplementary grants.

NMSC and sponsors have thus far contributed about $17 million in direct financial assistance to Merit Scholars and their colleges. This amount is exclusive of obligations to the 4,000 Merit Scholars now in college.

Started in 1925
The Merit Program was established in 1925 with grants from the Ford Foundation and the Carnegie Corporation of New York. In 1958 the Ford Foundation announced an additional grant to

Olson Gives Position on State Government Issues for GOP

Governor Aspirant Tells Group Reynolds Will be Hard to Beat

Jack Olson, Wisconsin's lieutenant governor and the first man to announce his candidacy for governor in 1964, told Outagamie County Republicans Monday that his boss, Gov. John Reynolds, would be a tough man to beat and the Republicans need, above all else in 1964, party unity.

The lieutenant governor told his audience of about 35 county party members that he would welcome competition for the party's nod for the state's top post, "but above all we must remember in the coming election that party unity will be all important."

Comments on other issues made by Olson:

Wants Labor Vote
Labor: The Republican Party can move into the labor field by cause "we have a lot of friends in the unions. We have to let her know our story. We have too easily surrendered the labor field." Olson said that the important issue to talk labor is not how to create more jobs in the state, but how to maintain the security of the jobs we now have.

Olson said a state-wide labor organization will announce next week its support of him for the governorship.

Reynolds' Highway Program
"It's hard to be against good highways, but we're trying to do 10 years work in three years," Olson said the accelerated program as outlined by Reynolds would require concrete paving 24 hours a day. "There is a need for acceleration in the program in order to get our products to market and to encourage our tourists, but we have to take a long hard look before bonding our state."

"No Rights Problem"
Civil Rights Legislation: "Republicans shouldn't be guilty of attempting civil rights legislation. We all know that civil rights is an educational process. Certainly there is a need for fair housing laws, but there is no real civil rights problem in the state," Olson said the state's committee on civil rights "is working hard and well in working the matters out." He said that consideration for civil rights should be made toward the Wisconsin Indian as well as the Negro and other races.

Taxation: Industry wants to know there is stability in Madison, Olson said. "They'll pay their share if they know it is being put to good use," Olson, a businessman, told his audience, there is need in Madison for a businessman (although, he said, he had nothing against attorneys) "so somebody can say no once in awhile."

The World's Fair: Reynolds had committed himself to go into the World's Fair, Olson said, but has ignored the national committee. Frank P. Zeidler, head of the state department of resources, has urged industry to ignore the fair and to put their money into the state fair. Olson said the World's Fair was a good opportunity to get the state products before the eyes of the world and to open new markets. He said the New York fair is expected to draw 10 million people, as compared to seven million in Seattle last year.

Loss Taxes on Land
Recreation Program: The state program is essentially a good idea, Olson said, "but we are taking too much land off the tax rolls." He said under the present program, Door County will have up to 45 per cent of its land taken from the rolls "and 55 per cent of the people will be paying 100 per cent of the taxes. Let's try to improve what we have now," Olson asked.

Holding the Budget: Olson called for a review of the aids which were returned to the communities and said the Committee of 25, made up of labor and management people, natives and other citizen groups is studying the costs of aids "and we hope to get a more realistic picture of aids from their study."

State Polls: The governor has attempted to end the one year residency required to vote, Olson said. Other states have increased the residency, but he would have kept the one year requirement.

Stream Pollution: Wisconsin has done more than any other state to clean up its streams, Olson stated. The state has passed and will put into full effect the anti-Manawa, lost control of his car driven south by James A. Beschta, 20, same address, which collided with a northbound car driven by Robert R. Buntrock Jr., 16, route 2, Ogdensburg, county police reported.

David D. Lewis, 18, route 1, Manawa, lost control of his car while driving south on River Road in the Town of Union, Clintonville, 4:45 p.m. Sunday and ran off the road on a curve, police said.

Home Adviser Will Receive Service Award

National Group To Cite Oshkosh's Lois Klusmeyer

OSHKOSH — Miss Lois Klusmeyer, Winnebago County home economics agent, will receive a distinguished service award Oct. 2 at the final session of the National Home Agents' meeting in Salt Lake City, Utah. Presenting the certificate to Miss Klusmeyer will be Mrs. Margaret C. Browne, former Wisconsin Home Economics Extension Leader and now director of the Division of Home Economics, Federal Extension Service, Washington, D.C.

Developing a child study group for young couples, organizing training for young homemakers and giving consumer buying information to prospective brides are a few of the home economics extension programs that will be noted when Miss Klusmeyer receives her award.

Miss Klusmeyer's work with young families has been developed with various clientele and has been so successful that she has written a guide used by other counties in Wisconsin and other states.

An Agent 10 Years
For 10 years Miss Klusmeyer has been an agent in Oshkosh. In that time she has served as an agent trainer for seven newcomers to the service. Both summer agents and newly appointed agents have profited from her guidance.

Miss Klusmeyer is active with the urban planning groups in her county and is a member of the committee on the Urban Ford Foundation Neenah - Menasha Project.

She is also active in professional and service groups in her community. She has held offices and committee appointments in state home economics and extension organizations. Miss Klusmeyer, a former Rock County 4-H club member, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Klusmeyer, route 2, Evansville.

2 Women Injured When Car Is Hit From Behind

NEW LONDON — A rural New London woman and a passenger were injured when their car was struck from behind at the intersection of Mill St. and Pine St. at 7:45 p.m. Monday.

Mrs. Rae Besaw, route 3, was traveling south and had stopped in traffic with her directional signals on for a left turn when a car driven by Victor S. Korosec, 33, South Milwaukee, struck her from behind, police said. The pavement was wet and slippery at the time of the mishap.

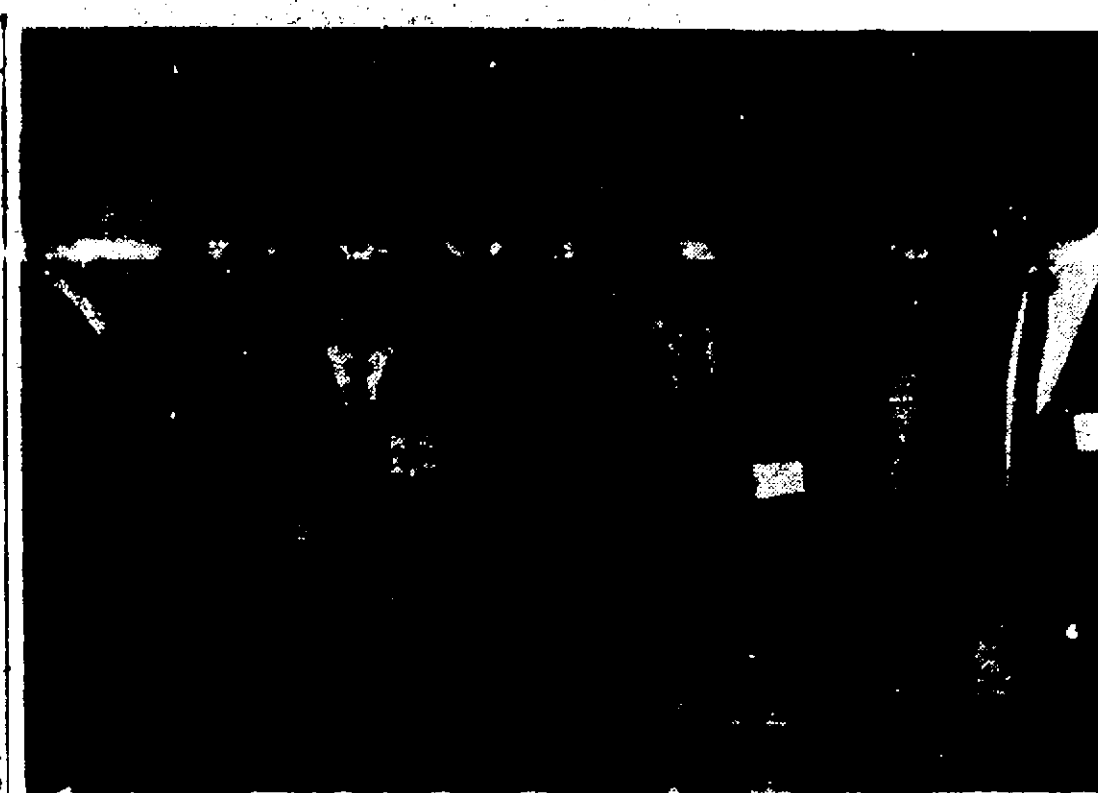

Following the accident, Mrs. Besaw complained of a sore right hip and shoulder. Bonnie Rae Fenske, 13, 415 Smith St., passenger in the car, complained of a sore neck. Both were treated at local doctors' offices.

Hollander Predicts State Budget of Over $1 Billion in Six More Years

Senator Says if This Happens Wisconsin Will Find Itself Short by $500 Million

OSHKOSH — If the present trends continue, the state budget will reach $1 1/4 billion by 1970 and this means $500 million in new revenues will have to be found, state Sen. Walter Hollander of Rosendale, co-chairman of the Legislature's Joint Committee on Finance, warned the Wisconsin County Boards Association this morning.

"Gentlemen, it's going to be rough," he stressed.

Proposed $1.2 Billion
Instead of the $650 million budget we have now, we will have budget of $1,250,000,000 if the present trend continues, Sen. Hollander advised. Revenues now will raise only about $700 million and that means we will have to find that extra $500 million somewhere.

"Where will it come from?" he asked. He said a Committee of 25 had been set up and will have its second meeting this week. Some decisions are extremely political in nature but there is a hope this committee can come up with the answers.

The State Finance Committee co-chairman laid it on the line for the County Board personnel attending their annual convention as he reviewed the financial picture of the state and what the Legislature had been doing to meet the financial problems facing the state.

$225 Million Deficit
Sen. Hollander pointed out the state ended its fiscal year on June 30 with a $225 million deficit, of which about half represented a shortage in school aids.

Sen. Hollander felt there was no other place than a general sales tax to provide the revenues needed. "We must strive for the utmost economy or taxes will get the best of us," he warned.

County Board personnel, Sen. Hollander also is chairman of the Finance-Lac County Board.

Every Senator and Assemblyman has been trying to vote the blacktopping of several streets into convictions on these budget and tax bills, he continued. "It's a case of either throwing away your money or letting the state go into chaos."

The governor's executive budget, he mentioned, represents a 40 per cent increase over the previous biennium. Half of the budget expenses are local assistance costs, such as school aids, welfare aids and teacher retirement benefits. The other half is for state operations, such as the University of Wisconsin and state colleges, public welfare and health programs, housing programs and state general government operations.

The present revenues would yield only $510 million toward the $655.7 million needed. Where is the other $147 million going to come from, Sen. Hollander inquired.

Wisconsin already has the highest income tax rate of any of the surrounding states, he cited as he compared California taxing a man and wife with a $9,000 income at $51.10 compared with Wisconsin's 362.50 on that same income.

"Surely we should not increase the income taxes more as the governor wants or we will be so far out we will be unable to compete for new industry. We can't get business and industry by raising the income taxes," he stressed.

The two tax study committees suggested a general sales tax to keep even with the surrounding states. "But politics enters into it. The sales tax is a horse that has been ridden successfully several times and Gov. Reynolds was elected on the no sales tax issue."

Budget Bills
He outlined the several budget bills calling for sales taxes which the governor vetoes and how finally a compromise was reached.

Sen. Hollander warned that any of the 475 bills still pending before the legislature at its Nov. 4 session that may have money involved are likely to be defeated as there isn't any money to pay those costs.

One of these, he said, is Bill 170-S which provides for counties being paid their actual costs by the state and other counties for non-resident patients in county mental hospitals. This bill has a $2 million price tag as the state's share and this probably will not pass remembering how hard it was to get a majority vote on a tax program last summer. I doubt if these bills which call for money expenditures will pass, he concluded.

Harvest Vacation

AMHERST — Harvest vacation in the Tomorrow River Schools will start on Monday, Sept. 30th, and the schools will again be in session starting on Monday, Oct. 7th, according to Walter Bohman, school supervisor.

New London Sidewalk Jobs Near Completion

200-Foot Section Being Installed On N. Water Street Is Last Project

NEW LONDON — Street department crews are wrapping up their major summer projects with the installation of a 200-foot section of sidewalk on N. Water Street.

The new section of sidewalk will be in front of city hall and Cline and Hanson Furniture Store.

Major street improvement projects for the summer include the blacktopping of several streets in the Fifth Ward. The streets on the north side of the river which were blacktopped were Third Street from North Water Street to North Street, Shiocton Street from Spruce to Elm, West Street from Waupaca to Shiocton, Lyon Street from Shiocton to Waupaca, North Street from McKinley to Avon, Street from North to total of 1,000 feet of other side-cuts, such as school aids, well the Green Bay and Western Railroad tracks. Re-topped streets of summer. This included benefits. The other half is for the south side are Bruce Street, Shiocton Street from Mill to Division, Mill Street from Smith to Wymann, and W. Warren Street and 200 feet of miscellaneous sections of health programs, housing programs and state general government operations.

The present revenues would yield only $510 million toward the $655.7 million needed. Where is the other $147 million going to come from, Sen. Hollander inquired.

Wisconsin already has the highest income tax rate of any of the surrounding states, he cited as he compared California taxing a man and wife with a $9,000 income at $51.10 compared with Wisconsin's 362.50 on that same income.

Bankers Discuss Obtaining Industry At Annual Meeting

200 Attend Area Conference Sponsored by Waupaca Bank

WAUPACA — Ways and means of acquiring new industries and the value of the United States dollar abroad were discussed Tuesday afternoon when the First National Bank, here sponsored the seventh annual business conference at the Waupaca Country club.

About 200 business and professional men from Waupaca and the surrounding area were guests at the program and dinner.

Richard E. Johnson, president of the bank, welcomed the guests and pointed out the conference was planned for the benefit of the business and professional leaders of the community to make Waupaca a better place in which to live.

Ray A. Niemitz, Milwaukee, director of industrial development, First National Bank, one of the two speakers, claimed planning, paying and profiting are the three major roles in industrial development.

Planning Stressed
He stressed planning is only one phase in which industries fit into the structure of a community. He suggested types of industry to seek, what degree and what type are important to the overall welfare of a community.

Niemitz said Waupaca is one of 10,000 communities looking for new industry. He said the community must first of all have a location and then determine if the community is compatible with the industry.

He suggested each community meet some of the costs to provide industries with an incentive to locate here. He cited lease purchase agreements on buildings, extension of water mains and street improvements as basic community responsibilities.

He said some inducements are desirable, but some industries are skeptical of free offers realizing that in future years they may have to subsidize locations and streets for competitors.

Beneficial Many
Niemitz cited community pride and offering young men and women a place of employment as non-dollar attributes of new industries. He claimed new industries will help to increase the earnings of a community and benefit many people.

During the question and answer period, the speaker stressed the value of aiding and assisting previously established industries.

During the intermission Johnson introduced new Waupaca business men.

W. E. Huhn, Chicago, who is an international economist with the Federal Reserve Bank, Chicago, spoke on the value of the American dollar overseas.

Kuhn discussed "Balance of Payment and the Gold Reserve." He told of the necessity to maintain a high revenue from United States manufactured products in overseas markets to retain a balance of economy.

American Dollar
Kuhn insisted the idea of preserving so much in gold to back the American dollar may not be as important as to maintain a strong economic value in world trade.

He suggested that since 1968 the United States has suffered a deficit and foreign markets are apprehensive of the value of the American dollar.

He said France is one of the major problems in the United States economy as that country is claiming more American gold than all of the other countries combined. He said other countries are retaining their currency value in order to provide a trade ratio for future imports.

Kuhn maintained that the big problem facing the United States is to keep its products competitive in foreign markets. He said with increased production costs the American manufactured items are finding it difficult to meet foreign prices.

No Comment Offered on Postal Probe

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The U.S. Department of Justice had a "no comment" this week on its investigation into alleged irregularities concerning the pending rural carrier postal appointment at Scandinavia in Waupaca County.

Charges were made several weeks ago by two of the three top-rated Civil Service candidates for the job that they were approached by a state official from Madison and a prominent Waupaca County Democratic party member, who made overtures they step aside in favor of a lower-ranked candidate.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission, with the assistance of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, conducted a probe into the charges and filed a report with the Justice Department.

In declining comment on the Scandinavia incident, Herbert J. Miller Jr., an assistant U.S. attorney general, said it was Justice Department policy to refrain from commenting on matters referred by other governmental agencies "so long as those matters are open and actively under consideration."

Miller's comment confirmed previous reports that the Justice Department still is considering what action to take, if any, in the case.

Landmark Disappears With Burning of Old Cheese Box Factory

MARION — One of Marion's oldest landmarks disappeared last week when the fire department supervised burning of the Rogers and Johnson factory building.

Peter Rogers and Peter Johnson built the structure in 1894 for the manufacture of barrel hoops and wood excelsior. They began operation in December of that year.

In 1901 the firm added cheese boxes to its output. The factory continued producing the boxes and excelsior until 1962 under the name of Marion Plywood and Veneers, Inc. The firm abandoned the old building in 1962 and moved into a new plant.

Harry Hedberg, Chicago, is the present owner of the factory site.

Two Injured In Accidents

New Holstein Man, Sherwood Youth in Separate Crashes

CHILTON — Two motorists were injured in separate one-car accidents Monday on Calumet County highways.

Marvin Blatz, 31, route 2, New Holstein, suffered cuts on the legs, hands and head when his car left State 57 just south of New Holstein about 10:30 p.m. Blatz was treated at a doctor's office.

The car he was driving was totally demolished after skidding and rolling more than 560 feet, county police said. Blatz told police he was traveling south when an oncoming car with bright headlights crossed the centerline and forced him to the shoulder.

Out of control, the car went into the right ditch, hit a stop sign when it was vaulting the embankment created by a town road intersection and rolled an undetermined number of times, police said. The stop sign was found 66 feet from its broken post.

The car wound up on its top.

Sherwood Youth Hurt

A Sherwood youth, Robert F. Schroeder Jr., 18, told police he blacked out before his car left County Trunk B about 1½ miles west of St. John at 7 p.m. Monday.

Schroeder said he could not recall anything from before the accident until he found himself walking along the county road away from the wreckage. He suffered back injuries and is being treated at Calumet Memorial Hospital.

His westbound car went off the north side of the road, crossed a farm driveway and hit a pole. It overturned.

John Doyne Supports Post Before Boards Association

OSHKOSH — The office of county executive is an absolute must in most counties to meet the needs and demands of the people, Milwaukee County Executive John Doyne told delegates at the annual Wisconsin County Boards Association convention.

Whether this position should be elective or appointive is another question, Doyne said, but all counties need some sort of administrator.

"You must admit," he added, "most county governments are not organized to accept community-wide leadership." Doyne said counties are organized to meet and a two day session of the Wisconsin Association of Insurance Agents' 46th annual meeting of the risk agents at Hotel Pils-

the needs of a rural society and not the problems of urbanization. Doyne admitted the problems of Milwaukee County with its more than one million people were greater than less populous counties, but not really any different.

Reviews Duties

In reviewing the duties and powers of the county executive in Milwaukee county, Doyne said the three main duties were (1) coordinating and directing managerial affairs; (2) appointment of department heads and commission members with county board confirmation, and (3) submission of an executive budget to the board.

The broadest and most important of these appears to be in the executive budget, Doyne said. The result of the executive budget has been more intensive and personal review of department budgets, he reported.

The county auditor helps prepare the department budgets with the department heads. The executive budget then is submitted to the county board, which in turn refers the budget to its finance committee for study.

In an effort to keep costs down, department heads are required to explain changes in their budgets by one of six general categories. "This promotes growth in understanding of mutual problems," Doyne said.

Sees Changes

Doyne also said he could visualize other changes in the structure of the Milwaukee County government as the need for centralization arises. The constitutional office of county treasurer, he said, could become the head of a county finance department; the register of deeds heading a department of records, and the sheriff heading a department of safety.

The Milwaukee County executive also stressed that it is not the duty of the executive to set or make policy, but to administer policy made by the county board and to make recommendations to the board. "The executive-county board relationship is most important for success of the system," he added.

At the present time, state law limits the county executive form of government to counties with a population of more than 500,000 which excludes all counties except Milwaukee.

The Milwaukee position is elective with a four-year term of office and carries a salary of $17,500. The executive has veto power which the board can override by a two-thirds vote.

Greatest Need for 3rd UW Campus Seen in Southeast

Fox Valley to be Considered For Site, Harrington States

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY—Based on population, southeastern Wisconsin now shows the greatest need for a third University of Wisconsin campus, but other areas including the Fox River Valley will be considered if interest is shown, Dr. Fred Harvey Harrington said here Tuesday night.

The university president told close to 200 persons attending a Scholarships, Inc., banquet that a delegation of the board of regents has been sent to survey Kenosha and one will be sent to Racine. A similar group may be sent to other areas, such as Green Bay and Appleton, if requested, he added.

The banquet at the Elks Club was held to honor Harrington and acquaint residents with Scholarships, Inc.'s program of offering financial aid to worthy Green Bay students.

Regents Decision

During an interview earlier at the University Center, Harrington said the final decision on the third campus location will be made by the regents with recommendations from the State Committee on Higher Education, consent of the governor and the legislature.

The regents, governing board of the university, has just begun to study the matter, he said, and the earliest they can come up with a recommendation is next summer. If the regents decide to then in favor of building the additional campus, they will include its cost in their budget which the governor will receive in the fall wide program of financial aid to of 1964. It then must be approved by the legislature the following year.

Whatever location chosen, the facility will not be ready before 1966, Harrington indicated. In line with this he said the university's immediate need is to provide more facilities for freshmen and sophomores.

State Colleges

Harrington did eliminate many cities as possible third campus sites. "We do not intend to take over state colleges," he went on, squashing the idea of expanding such schools in Oshkosh, La Crosse or Whitewater.

"We need added facilities, and expanding a state college into a branch of the university would not be expansion."

On the subject of scholarships for students, Harrington said he opposed views of some that the individuals should pay the entire cost of education. "It is proper campus location will be made by the regents with recommendations from the State Committee on Higher Education, consent of the governor and the legislature."

Scholarships Needed

It is also wrong to force a student to go too far into debt by borrowing a burdensome amount. Harrington said financial help in the form of scholarships is needed urgently.

He commended the local group on being the first city in Wisconsin, and one of the few in the nation, to set up a community-governor will receive in the fall wide program of financial aid to of 1964. It then must be approved by the legislature the following year.

Dr. Harrington was introduced by Myron Cohen, Green Bay attorney and member of the State Committee on Higher Education. This was preceded by brief talks by the Rev. D. M. Burke, O. Praem, president of St. Norbert College, and Dr. Theodore Savides, director of the University Center here.

Also on the program were two recipients of aid from scholarships, Inc.: Richard Cayer, 1312 Doty St., an East High School graduate, and Carol Mill, 1431 W. Mason St., a graduate of West High School. Both will attend the University Center here.

Predict Defeat Of GOP Plan to Curb Spending

he has had pledges of support from a number of members who usually vote against the administration on economic matters.

"Turning Point in Policy"

In a speech that reached an emotional note seldom heard in tax debates, Mills pleaded with his colleagues Tuesday to make possible a "turning point in economic policy."

Mills aimed his arguments straight at lawmakers who distrust heavy government spending.

He argued that if Congress does not leave more dollars in the private sector of the economy, it may fail to solve the problems of unemployment and unused industrial plant capacity. Then, he said, those who favor massive government spending would have their best opportunity.

The Republican proposal to cancel the tax cut unless the President announces cutbacks in expenditure plans, Mills said, is no "unbreakable magic way" to control spending.

Fight Over Spending

The Republican counterattack included a warning from the party leader in the House, Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, that the bill would be in "great jeopardy" if the house rejected the limitation.

This limit would put a ceiling of not more than $97 billion on the spending budget for the year that started last July 1 and $98 billion for the next year.

Deduction Changes

Rep. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., said members of the House Appropriations Committee were ready to testify the government could easily live within these limits, even though they are about $1 billion under current spending and $2 billion under tentative plans for next year.

The Treasury says practically everyone would get a tax break under the bill, even though some of its provisions tighten existing parts of the tax code. For example, state gasoline taxes and minor casualty losses would no longer be deductible, the dividend credit would be abolished—although the $50 dividend exclusion would be doubled—and the tax advantages of some fringe benefits like sick pay and big group insurance policies would be diminished.

Budget for U. S. Defense Gets Okay

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the news from Washington:

DEFENSE MONEY By a 77-0 vote, the Senate has approved a $47,339,707,000 defense appropriation measure after brushing aside all major efforts to cut it.

The bill now returns to the House which previously approved $258 million less than the Senate.

PLATEAU After climbing steadily for the first seven months of the year, the U.S. economy paused in August, the Commerce Department reports.

Several important economic barometers such as personal income, nonfarm employment, industrial production and consumer spending showed little change last month.

Housewife Upset by 'New' Pink Clothes

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—A housewife brought into court a pair of her husband's shorts, dyed pink, in pressing her suit for $33 against a coin-operated laundry.

Mrs. Robert Wallien complained also that shirts, socks and towels were dyed pink in the public washer.

She said she had gone to do some shopping and could only guess that someone had tossed a red rug, or such, into her laundry for a free wash.

otics peddler and murderer who has been singing to federal agents since he heard the syndicate had issued a death warrant for him, has brought the jigsaw picture of organized crime into sharper focus, said Kennedy.

Valachi himself is scheduled to be one of the star witnesses later in the investigation.

Nafia Commission

Because of information from Valachi and other sources, Kennedy went on, the government has learned that Cosa Nostra—also known as the Mafia and the Black Hand—is run by a commission of nine to 12 active members. The leaders of Cosa Nostra in most major cities are responsible to the commission which "makes major policy decisions for the organization, settles disputes among the families (gangs) and allocates territories of criminal operation."

Referring to the imprisoned New York mobster Vito Genovese, whom Valachi is reported to have portrayed as the chief of Cosa Nostra, Kennedy said that because of his power and the fear in which he is held in the New York organization, "no move has been made to take over the top spot while his appeal of a narcotics conviction is pending in the courts."

Kennedy warned if Genovese loses his appeal and stays in prison "we anticipate a major underworld power struggle in New York."

Stalbaum Denies Labor Will Pay For His Campaign

RACINE (AP) — Democratic State Sen. Lynn Stalbaum of Racine, who has announced he will seek his party's nomination as a candidate for Congress from the 1st District, has challenged a report that labor has promised to underwrite his campaign.

Stalbaum said Tuesday, "No one in the labor movement has informed me of any decision to completely finance my campaign." He added:

"I have no assurance of money from labor, but I expect support from labor, as well as from business, industry and farm groups as I have had in the past."

Stalbaum, the only announced candidate for the office now held by Republican Rep. Henry Schadeberg, was commenting on a statement by the district's former Democratic representative, Gerald T. Flynn.

Red Chinese Attempt To Block Admission of Formosan Delegation

ROME (AP) — Screaming Red Chinese delegates tried in vain Tuesday to block the admission of Nationalist China to the 17th International Medical Conference of the fight against tuberculosis.

More than 3,000 delegates from 77 countries are attending the three-day meeting.

During a session of the council's directorate, several nations proposed the admission of the Formosa-based government.

Policeman Seeking His Children's Pony Finds It Tied at Station

BEAVER DAM, Wis. (AP) — Police officer Emil Schmid who had been up half the night hunting for a shetland pony owned by his children, reported for work bleary-eyed this morning.

He let out a yell as he arrived at headquarters. There, tethered on the lawn, was the pony.

The night shift, answering a householder's complaint, had caught the pony at 5:30 a.m. and spent the next three hours trying to locate the owner.

"Gosh," said Schmid, "the only place I didn't call was the police station."

Uncertainty Clouds Further Red Dealings

BY JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, now that the Senate has approved the limited nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviet Union, is like a man who just made a down-payment on a new house, although he hasn't figured out what kind.

The treaty is an improvement in the relationship between the two countries and could lead to better things—President Kennedy spoke of it as a first step—but nobody is sure, or could be, what comes next, if anything.

The Soviet Union's Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, at the United Nations last week proposed, among other things, another disarmament conference. But disarmament conferences are not new with either side.

Since the Russians won't agree to an inspection system to prevent cheating on disarmament, and the United States won't agree to disarmament without inspection, it was no wonder Gromyko's idea caused no gasps.

When Kennedy followed Gromyko at the United Nations with the suggestion that the United States and the Soviet Union get together to send a joint expedition to the moon, this wasn't new, either. It explains why the Russians didn't get excited.

It wasn't the first time Kennedy had mentioned it to them.

A White House spokesman said the President had proposed the joint moon trip to Premier Khrushchev at Vienna in 1961. Khrushchev didn't buy it. And, oddly enough, only two months ago Kennedy told a news conference it was impractical.

Gromyko, while he was at it, offered another idea which was also not new with the Russians: a nonaggression agreement with NATO Allies and the Warsaw Pact allies in Eastern Europe. The West had never grabbed at that one.

Permanent Split of Europe

That's no wonder, either. It could have the effect, if the Allies bought it, of Allied agreement to the permanent division of Germany and Europe a line down the middle with East Germany in the Communist camp, West Germany on the Western side.

The Western Allies are committed to agreeing to no such thing. The Russians had already created their symbol of the division with the wall they built to split West and East Berlin. But it has remained, and probably was so intended, more than just a symbol of a divided city.

Since the Allies are unwilling to risk war by tearing the wall down, it is a symbol to their own bafflement in dealing with the Soviets.

There has been talk, also not new, about the two sides agreeing to setting up observation posts in each other's territory to be alert against military buildups or surprise attacks.

This idea alone, if the two sides ever seriously considered it, would probably require almost fantastically dropped-out negotiations. Even if they did agree, the final arrangements probably wouldn't mean much.

In a nuclear age it's hard to think of either side starting a war, which would almost certainly become a nuclear war, the way war started in 1914, with foot soldiers, or, in 1939, with tanks and ordinary bombers.

Better Trade Relations

Along any of the avenues mentioned above, down which the two sides might be able to walk hand-in-hand, there could be some give and take but at this time there is no reason to think so.

A more likely road to better relations may be in the field of trade. Last week the Russians were reported anxious to buy American wheat, although they had just bought over $800 million worth of wheat from Canada.

A number of American businessmen have called on the government to take another look at its restrictions on trade with the Communist nations. There's a ban on selling them materials which might help them economically.

It has taken the two sides 18 years since the war to get this far: an agreement not to test nuclear weapons anywhere except underground. It is reasonable to assume it will be quite a while before they reach the next meaningful step.

Mrs. Nhu Subject of Rome Demonstration

ROME (AP)—More than 20 young demonstrators gathered in front of the South Viet Nam Embassy Tuesday night shouting protests against the presence of Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu. Police broke up the crowd.

It was the second demonstration against South Viet Nam's first lady since she arrived in Rome last Saturday.

Tomorrow...Jet-smooth Luxury '64 CHEVROLET

'64 Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan—one of 16 Jet-smooth luxury Chevrolets.

Chevrolet was luxurious before, but you should see it now. With smart new styling, the '64 Chevrolet looks even longer (but isn't). There's even a whole new series this year—the Impala Super Sports—with front bucket seats as standard equipment. (The new Impalas and Bel Airs are more luxurious, too. Even the lowest priced Biscaynes have new foam-cushioned seats front and rear and are fully carpeted.) Of course, you expect more than just luxury from Chevrolet. A choice of 16 power teams, for instance—a 6 and six V8's up to 425 hp (optional at extra cost). New quieter transmissions. Jet-smooth ride with Full Coil suspension. Flush-and-dry rocker panels, Delco-tron generator, self-adjusting brakes and other low-upkeep features. If you've ever wondered how luxurious Chevrolet could get—with all the extra-cost options available at your Chevrolet dealer's—that's entirely up to you.

Take your first look at the first CHEVELLE!

CHEVELLE! by Chevrolet

New Chevelle Malibu Super Sport Coupe—one of 11 models in three great series.

You've never seen anything like this totally new line of cars before. Chevelle is new in everything but Chevrolet quality. Chevelle is a good foot shorter than the big cars, so it parks easily. Yet the interior of its Body by Fisher gives you a generous supply of passenger and luggage room. The ride is surprisingly smooth with a rugged coil spring at all four wheels. And not so surprisingly for Chevrolet, the new Chevelle offers a choice of engines ranging from an economical 120-hp 6 to a 220-hp

V8 (optional at extra cost). Choose the Chevelle you like best from the three series—the Malibu Super Sport, the Malibu and the 300 Series with eleven models in all—at your Chevrolet dealer's. (This good-looking Malibu Super Sport maybe?)

Name Head of Red Feather Labor Division

Harold Drexler,
'62 Drive Worker,
Accepts Appointment

Harold Drexler, chairman of the community services committee of the Appleton Federation of Labor Unions AFL-CIO, has accepted the chairmanship of the labor-participation committee of the 1963 United Red Feather campaign, according to Walter Rugland, campaign chairman.

In his letter of invitation to Drexler, Rugland asked that the union committee serve as the labor participation committee.

Drexler worked on the 1962 Red

Drexler's committee will be reviewing the details of the Red Feather campaign and will present the campaign to Appleton organized labor for its endorsement.

The committee also is studying the suggested scale of giving to help determine whether any modifications should be made, and will make suggestions for more effective solicitation and dissemination of information about the Red Feather agencies to organized labor.

Union Secretary

Drexler is an employee of Appleton Mills and financial secretary of United Textile Workers Local 78 AFL-CIO. Early this spring he served on the committee which helped plan the Union Counseling Course held at the YMCA to acquaint union members with the services available to them and their fellow workers in the community.

Drexler worked on the 1962 Red

Feather campaign. Employees of his firm, Appleton Mills, received a plaque as one of the groups achieving 80 per cent of employees giving the suggested share of "20 Minutes a Month."

60 Students to Participate in Debate at KHS

KAUKAUNA—Approximately 60 students have reported for the debate team at Kaukauna High, according to Dennis Kral, coach.

At the initial meeting, students listened to debaters who participated in the clinic at Michigan State and Oshkosh State College during the summer. As in past years, A and B squads will be made up of sophomores through seniors while the C team will be made up of freshmen.

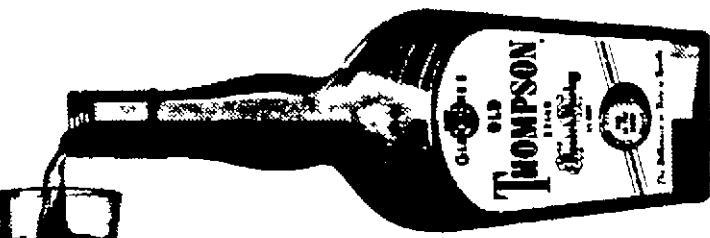

Plans call for an all school tournament late in October with the regular debating season to get underway Nov. 9 at Sheboygan. Free medical care is to be the topic this year.

Driver's Workshop At Shawano School

Shawano Senior High School has been selected as a site for one of six driver education workshops to be conducted by the State Department of Public Instruction in cooperation with the Wisconsin Driver Education Association and the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education. Local coordinators will be Neil Montour and Fred Ponschok, driver education instructors, and William T. Richards, driver education supervisor, will be the traveling coordinator.

Discussions will include research in driver and traffic safety, traffic engineering, multiple-car plans and automobile insurance.
